GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Fraud in Railway Bonds Alleged.

CHICAGO, May 29.—It has transpired that late Saturday afternoon F. E. Hinckley, president of the Chicago and Paducah, Chicago and Iowa, and other roads, was arrested upon a charge of conspiracy to defraud, and put under $50,000 bonds. Complaint is made by Mr. Fisher, of London, a wealthy Englishman, and a heavy stockholder in the Chicago and Paducah, who represents about a million dollars of bonds of the road. He alleges that Hinckley went to England in 1873 and by means of false representations concerning the amount already invested in the road, the aid it would receive from municipalities and the returns brought in, secured £160,000 in return for bonds. Hinckley claims the whole railroad transaction has been above board throughout, and that this arrest is merely a blackmailing scheme which will not work.

Foolhardiness.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., May 29.—The schooner New Bedford, 60 feet long, with Captain Thomas Crapo and his wife on board, sailed to-day for London. An immense crowd witnessed the departure of the boat which is the smallest that has ever attempted the feat.

Oil Boat Burned.

NEW YORK, May 29.—A lighter laden with petroleum was burned at the foot of 41st street this afternoon. Two men are reported killed and one badly scalded.

Wrecking of the City of San Francisco.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Graphic says the steamship San Francisco ran upon an unknown rock on the northern coast of California and was a total loss. The passengers have been taken to Acapulco and will be forwarded to San Francisco by next steamer.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The following dispatch relative to the loss of the P. M. steamer City of San Francisco was received to-day:

ACAPULCO, May 18, VIA CITY OF MEXICO, May 24, 1877.

To W. F. CLYDE, President of the P. M. S. S. Co.: The City of San Francisco in lat. 16° 6' north, and long. 96° 36' west, struck an unknown rock May 5th at 2 A. M., on a bright clear day; sunk and became a total loss in one hour and two minutes. No lives lost. Passengers arrived at Acapulco this day in the Mexican gunboat Mexico, and leave for San Francisco in the Costa Rica, the 20th inst.

JAS. W. WADDELL, commander.

Theories of the Wreck.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The World says in relation to the loss of the steamer San Francisco: At the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Company yesterday, considerable doubt was thrown upon the authenticity of the dispatch. The Directors went into a thorough examination of the whole story by logs, maps and charts. In the first place they calculated the steamer would naturally pass May 16th, several hundred miles from the spot indicated as that in which the disaster occurred. Again, the story was considered a little too elaborate. A Director discussing the matter at his house last night, said: "How is it that with the dispatch from the Consul there came none to any of the friends of the passengers. There have been none of them inquiring at the office to-day; therefore the passengers sent no messages here. One theory is that the report was concocted in this city, and some one sent it to Mexico to have it brought out just in time to influence the action that is to come off to-morrow. It is probable that the old ticket will be re-elected, with the exception of taking Hoyt of the Pennsylvania Coal Co., into the board. The other theory propounded among the Directors: That stock jobbers would only need to send a man to the City of Mexico and tell him to have a Mexican make a little tour of the city and then come into the consul's office with a forged dispatch and persuade him to endorse it as coming from Acapulco, and it would come here as genuine.

A St. Louis Enterprise.

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—A project is on foot here to open a direct grain trade with Liverpool. The plan is to center here the Elevator Co., Mississippi Valley Barge Co. and ocean steamers to pool their risks by a combination and send cargoes of grain, especially corn, from New Orleans through jetties to Liverpool and other European ports. The prospects are the plan will soon be carried into effect. An ocean steamship company has already named several large grain-carrying steamers, which can be put on berth as fast as cargoes are ready.

Rise in the Missouri.

OMAHA, May 29.—It is feared that the river, which is rising rapidly, will cut a channel across the bend and carry away the whole bottom above the bridge.

Mexican Murderers.

GALVESTON, May 29.—The News' Corpus Christi says Francisco G. Flores, a prominent citizen of San Diego, and his son, have been murdered by eight Mexican robbers, who got $700. The same party have committed other robberies and the whole country is hunting them.

Pacific Mail Down.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Pacific Mail stock sold to-day from 22¾ down to 19¾, on the reported loss of the steamer City of San Francisco, which, it is reported, struck a sunken rock off the Mexican coast on the 16th inst., and is a total loss; crew and passengers saved. There was besides a decline all around, owing to brokers of Twenty-third street, who have been bulls, having suddenly become sellers, and to a report that President Scott of the Pacific line declined to withdraw the fast trains, besides reports from Washington about intended contraction. Secretary Sherman's plans are, as far as known, not generally approved. He was called on by some to define his policy, clearly.

Fast Trains Off.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Late in the day a telegram was received from President Scott, saying the trouble in the West is understood to have ceased, and that the fast trains will be taken off and a reduction of rates occur.

Negroes Lynched.

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 28.—Three negroes were lynched Friday for the murder of Mrs. C. O. Lambess, of Stewart county. They attempted to rob the house and were resisted by Mrs. Chambless, when she was shot dead. The murderers were hanged with a trace chain. Negroes participated in the lynching.

The Chester Disaster.

CHESTER, Pa., May 29.—The jury in the case of the Saratoga launch disaster, rendered a verdict to-night. The jury find the deaths of seven victims have been accidental. The verdict was accompanied by a statement that while they believe from the evidence that all customary precautions for the prevention of accident to the men employed in this instance were taken, they are of the opinion that more ample means should be provided for the building of the ship and for immediate escape.

South Carolina Repudiation.

COLUMBIA, May 29.—The Senate to-day struck out the fifth section of the House appropriation bill which provided $270,000 for payment of interest on the bonded debt of the State.

Northern Lights.

BOSTON, May 29.—The display of the aurora borealis to-night was the most brilliant for years.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 29.—The most extensive displays of aurora borealis to-night ever seen in this section. The atmosphere was so strongly impregnated with electricity that communication was kept up for some time with New York, Boston and Montreal over the Western Union wires without the use of batteries.

A Borgia.

PHILADELPHIA, May 29.—Theresa Weiss, aged 55, was arrested for attempting to poison the family of Mr. Sigel, by sprinkling corrosive sublimate over strawberries and other articles of food. A large quantity of poison was found on the prisoner. She had been notified to leave on account of a difficulty with the family.

Dedication.

BOSTON, May 29.—Arrangements are being made for the dedication of the army and navy monument June 17th. Attorney General Devens has been asked to deliver the oration. President Hayes and family have been invited.

NEW YORK CUSTOM HOUSE.

Report of the Congressional Commission.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The custom house commission made a partial report to the Secretary of the Treasury on affairs in the New York custom house. The commission find that the force now employed in the custom house, the naval office and surveyor's office, numbering altogether 1,038, excluding for the present the appraiser's department, may safely be reduced in numbers by about 20 per cent. The commission propose the abolition of the office of deputy collector at large, which is now vacant, and the office of other deputy collectors and acting deputies, the suspension of the office of deputy collector at Jersey City, and the continued vacancy in the office of assistant collector and discharge of the deputy surveyor. They further report that the hours of employment, which commence nominally at 9, but in practice generally at 10 o'clock, should in all departments be from 9 o'clock until 4 P. M., excepting where a longer term is prescribed by law. A further reduction can be made should measures be adopted by the department under the present law, or Congress, in future legislation for the consolidation of separate departments or simplification of the general system. The fact is that appointments are made on political influence, as the appointments have been made in great part under political pressure from party considerations and with insufficient regard to the fitness of appointees. The commission report as their conclusion from the evidence given, and from their own observation, that a part of the force now employed in the service are deficient in proper attention to business, as well as in business qualifications and integrity of character. A few of them are employed more or less in private business to the possible detriment in some cases to the interests of the service, and that some fraudulently accept money for services rendered in their official capacity. The commission think the proposed reduction of force should be made in various divisions and classes, after careful scrutiny and examination in each division, in such a manner as the wisdom of the department may determine, to the end that the government may retain the most faithful and efficient of its present officials. Men are appointed to positions requiring often the skill and experience of experts, generally at the request of politicians and political associations in this and other States, with little or no examination into the fitness of appointees, beyond the recommendation of their friends. This is unsound in principle, dangerous in practice, demoralizing in its influence and calculated to encourage and perpetuate official ignorance, inefficiency and corruption. There can be no adequate protection to the customs service, for the honor of the government, the rights of importers and interests of the nation until the service is freed from the control of party and organized on a strictly business basis with the same guarantees for efficiency; and finally, in the selection of the chief and subordinate officers that would be required by the prudent merchant. Under the present system officers who are appointed through political influence are expected to make their offices contribute in turn to the support of the party, and that the amount of contributions asked from men is fixed by a percentage on their respective salaries. Most of officials thus assessed accede to the demand, and some repair their diminished salaries by exacting or accepting from merchants unlawful gratuities. The result of inquiries in the appraiser's office are reserved for a future report, but it is stated grave irregularities seem to exist.

Appended to the report are the following letters:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, May 26, 1876.

SIR—I beg leave to call your attention to the accompanying partial report of the commission appointed to examine into the custom house in New York, especially to that part relating to the appointments upon political influence without due regard to efficiency. As this involves questions of general policy which affects other departments of your administration, I desire instructions as to the rule you will adopted on this subject matter, so that they may be applied in the forms proposed in the new custom house. Respectfully yours,
JOHN SHERMAN

To the President.

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
WASHINGTON, May 26, 1877.

MY DEAR SIR: I have read the partial report of the commission appointed to examine into the New York custom house. I concur with the commission in their recommendations. It is my wish that the collection of revenue should be free from partisan control and organized on a strictly business basis, with the same guarantees for efficiency and fidelity in the selection of the chief and subordinate officers that would be required by a prudent merchant. Party leaders should have no more influence on appointments than other equally respectable citizens. No assessments for political purposes on officers or subordinates should be allowed. No useless officers or employes should be retained. No officer should be required or permitted to take part in the management of political organizations, caucuses, conventions or election campaigns. Their right to vote and to express their views on public questions either orally or through the press, is not denied, provided it does not interfere with the discharge of their official duties. Respectfully,
R. B. HAYES.
HON. JOHN SHERMAN.

Secretary Sherman, in a letter to the commissioners, says the report is approved, and a reduction of 20 per cent. will be made. The hours of employment; after May 31st, will be from 9 A. M. till 4 P. M. The method of carrying into effect the reduction of the force must be mainly left to the collector. He thanks the commissioners for their care, ability and industry in conducting the inquiry. In another letter, the secretary encloses the report of the commission to Collector Archer and says the dismissal of several of the employes will fall mainly on the collector, who will see that the most efficient and trustworthy officers are retained, those whose industry, integrity and good habits give guaranties for faithful services honestly rendered. Other things being equal, those will be preferred whose sympathies are with the party in power; but persons in office ought not to be expected to serve their party to the neglect of official duty, nor promote the interests of a particular candidate, or interfere with the free course of popular opinion, or to run caucuses or conventions. Where actual misconduct is proven, such as receiving gratuities or bribes, or oppression or insolence in office, or even want of common courtesy, or drunkenness, or other bad habits tending to degrade the officer, or absence or neglect of duty, in all such cases it will be a duty to dismiss the employee. The secretary expects the reduction to be completed by the 30th of June next, and so far as the reduction is specifically made by the recommendation of the report it should be made by the 1st day of June.

THE TURF.

Louisville Races.

LOUISVILLE, May 29.—In the first race for 3-year olds, two mile dash, four started. McWhorter won in the fast time of 3:30½, two seconds the best on record; Vera Cruz 2d; Hyena 3d. This is the fastest time that has been made at Louisville in 1, 2, 3 and 4-mile races. The second race, a 2-mile dash handicap, all ages, 4 starters. Courier won; Glasgow 2d; time 3:31¾, also very fast. The third event, mile heats, for beaten horses, 5 started. St. Elmo won first, and Fairplay took the 2d and 3d heats; time 1:43¼, 1:42¼, 1:45¾.

Ten Broeck vs. Time.

LOUISVILLE, May 29.—Ten Broeck's run tomorrow will be against the fastest two miles made previously to-day. This was at Saratoga in '73, by True Blue in 3:32½, carrying 108 pounds.

THE WAR IN THE EAST.

Cavalry Skirmish.

LONDON, May 28.—A Reuter telegram dated Erzeroum, 27 May, says in a recent cavalry fight ten miles from Kars the Russians lost 150 killed; Turkish losses not reported. No news has been received from the direction of Van or Olti.

The War will be Localized.

LONDON, May 29.—Advices received here of a semi-official character, state that Russia, Germany and Austria have arrived at an understanding that the war will be localized.

The Sultan will Abdicate.

Rumors come from Vienna that Sultan Abdul Hamed will shortly abdicate. There are fears of Constantinople of internal trouble. The ministerial crisis continues.

To Cross the Danube.

BUCHAREST, May 29.—It is expected the Russians will cross the Danube June 10th.

The Turkish Campaign.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 29.—Everything is quiet. The council of war has asked Mukhtar Pasha what his plans were. He replied that there was a scheme in process of execution certain to ensure success, and begged to be left alone.

Another Fight Near Kars.

A cavalry fight took place near Kars Saturday between 2,000 Turks and 1,000 Russians. A heavy rain stopped the fight as soon as commenced.

Turkish Troops at Rutschuk.

LONDON, May 29.—The Times' Rutschuk correspondent writes as follows: The twenty odd thousand troops at this garrison are the perfection of soldiers. They are brown, open faced, big shouldered fellows, perfectly resigned to any fate Allah may have for them, with perfect faith in the bankrupt government and the chief which they shout and sa aam every evening at sunset.

Fear and Trembling.

The disorderly Moslem element is an object of great fear with Bulgarians and foreigners generally. The Christians are frightened to death lest some imprudent members of their faith should speak a word which might light up such a glare as would throw Balak in the shade completely. Even the consuls have to be careful of their lives. Proofs of the extreme dangerous tension of the relations between Moslem and non-Moslem could be given without end. Richard Reed, English and American consul here, thinks matters are as serious as they can be, and his urgent warnings are ignored both at Downing street and Constantinople. It is believed by some here that Russian influence in the form of money is artfully planning a dreadful outbreak, and there are no friends to the Turk who do not insist upon a stop being put to irregularities, the firm repression of which would give satisfaction to decent Mohammedans and non-Mussulmans alike.

Guns Silenced.

BERLIN, May 29.—The steamer Esser, laden with Krupp guns for Cronstadt, foundered off Sweden.

Greek Politics.

ATHENS, May 28.—Greek Chambers opened to-day. Opposition is very strong, and the position of the cabinet is extremely insecure.

Greek Ministers Resigned.

ATHENS, May 29.—The ministry were defeated in the chamber of deputies to-day and announced their resignation.

Reported Recapture of Ardahan.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 28.—The Porte has again received roundabout intelligence from the sub-Governor of Loziot that Ardahan has been recaptured by a Turkish corps under Mukhtar Pasha.

Turkish War Councils.

The Turkish chamber of deputies unanimously passed a resolution that all ministers should be invited to attend the sitting of the chamber to consult with the deputies upon measures which are urgently required by the military situation.

A Governor Arrested.

Ismail, the former Governor of Tultchenhan, suspected of complicity in the Sofia demonstration, has been arrested and exiled to Broussa. Several others have been arrested and banished, and seizures of arms have been made.

Demonstration in Athens.

ATHENS, May 28.—A large crowd assembled under the windows of the royal palace to-day. Speeches were made urging military preparations and the formation of a strong ministry. The King was absent at the time of the demonstration.

Roumania's Attitude.

BUCHAREST, May 29.—It is now certain the Roumanian army will not cross the Danube with the invading forces, but will remain on the Roumanian side to guard the right flank.

From Ardahan.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 29.—Official reports from Tiflis state that the greater part of the Turkish garrison at Ardahan has been dispersed. Some fled towards Batoum. The Russian column is stationery near Surpahoues collecting provisions.

Danubian Navigation.

VIENNA, May 29.—A semi-official Montags Revue says the principle of the free navigation of the Danube is intimately connected with the vital interest of Austro-Hungary, and would be fully respected by the belligerents. Russia concurs in this view, and has given distinct and reassuring explanations on the subject. Turkey, however, has not, and orders by Turkish authorities are of a nature to call forth the most decided protest on part of Austro-Hungary. This country is entitled to insist that no difficulties should be raised beyond the immediate requirements of military operations, and that such claim of the Porte that vessels belonging to the European commission of the Danube should hoist the Turkish flag, is impracticable. The international character of the Danube excludes the idea of placing it under the sovereignty of the Porte. Instructions, in accordance with the above views, have been sent to Austro-Hungarian representatives at Constantinople and Bucharest.

Turbulents Discharged.

A few days since a number of Caucasians in the Russian service were sent home from Roumania. It was represented at the time that they were discharged on account of lawless conduct toward Roumanians.

Officers Shot

VIENNA, May 29.—The Deutsche Zeitung asserts that a conspiracy was discovered in the army there, and a colonel has been expelled and five other officers shot.

Levant Herald Revived.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 29.—The order suspending the Levant Herald is revoked.

Freedom of the Danube.

LONDON, May 29.—The Times' Vienna dispatch says that the representations made by this government in Constantinople about the reopening of navigation of the Danube, at least as far as Giria have produced their effect. The Turkish commander, Ada Kolese, has informed the Danube Steam Navigation Agency that their ships will be allowed to pass daily.

Pressing Italy.

ROME, May 29.—A correspondent says although the assertion that Russia had arrived at any understanding or exercised any pressure on the Italian government, is untrue, Germany has exercised a certain degree of pressure. Germany decides that there is a possibility that the sympathies of the Italian court may incline towards France.

More Religion in the War.

The Vatican is seriously bent upon decisive conduct against Russia in order if possible to force her to make an explicit decision as to her religious policy in Poland.

The Athenian Demonstration.

LONDON, May 29.—The Times' correspondent in Athens sends the following account of the demonstration there yesterday. The crowd, estimated at from one to ten thousand, filled the square before the palace demanding from the King strong and warlike measures. After waiting two hours four delegates were admitted to the palace. The King replied that now as always he had the national welfare at heart, and would form a ministry acceptable to the people. At last accounts the crowd was still standing discontentedly before the palace.

The Czar will Command in Person.

BUCHAREST, May 29. The Czar, on his arrival, will formally take command of both the Russian and Roumanian armies. All cause for jealousy will thus be averted. This, however, does not deter the arrangement by which the Roumanian army remains on the northern bank of the Danube.

Russians Evacuate Abazes.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 29.—Intelligence from Sookgoom Kale states that the Russians have evacuated the whole coast line of the Abazes country.

General War Notes

The Times' to-day's dispatch from Rutschuk says large masses of Russians are visible to the northwest of Giurgevo.

The Standard's correspondent at Constantinople expresses the belief that the news of the recapture of Ardahan is authentic.

BUCHAREST, May 29.—Railroad communication on the Ibrail and Galatz line has not yet been restored. At Galatz the water is still rising.

Railroad communication between Bosco and Barbo-cha is interrupted. Two large trains of infantry are detained at Barboschi.

The bridge over the Sereth is considered to be in a dangerous condition.

The sixth army corps, consisting of 35,000 men, which was to have arrived here two days ago, has been detained owing to bad weather.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Protection of Timber Lands.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—When the evidence furnished by the agents justifies legal proceedings against depredators on timber upon government land the agents are forbidden to make any compromise with offenders. Under this arrangement, notwithstanding very limited means were at the disposal of the department for the purpose, seizures of timber, have been made in Minnesota and Louisiana within two months, the value of which aggregate more than the full amount received by the government during the preceding 20 years. The commissioner believes that with proper appropriation the wholesale plundering can be stopped and many millions of dollars saved to the government. The commissioner includes the Pacific coast among the districts where he says the cutting and removal of government timber fraudulently has been very great. He says in the mining districts vast quantities have been used in propping up mines and burned into charcoal for smelting ore, and in other localities it has gone into the usual channel of the timber trade to a very large extent.

Financial Matters.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The Secretary of the Treasury has directed that at the close of the present month an amount of greenbacks be added to the special fund under the joint resolution for the issue of silver coin, which with the six million already set aside, will bring the fund up to the amount called for at this time, about seven million six hundred thousand, that being the amount of legal tenders received in exchange for silver held for redemption of fractional currency.

The Supreme Judgeship.

CHICAGO, May 29.—The Journal's Washington special says the story is current that President Hayes will offer the vacant seat on the bench of the U. S. Supreme Court to Attorney General Devens, who is not content with his present position which has interfered with his lucrative practice as a lawyer.

Sold Out.

Ex-Gov. Chamberlain has sold his residence in Columbia, S. C., to a brother of Wade Hampton.

A Thin Defense.

The defense set up in behalf of the Ellerton rioters at Charleston is that a general uprising of blacks was planned, and that they were instructed by Republican leaders so to act as to compel members of the Democratic rifle clubs to fire the first shot and goad the whites to the very acts perpetrated.

Paying Off the Bonds.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The Secretary of the Treasury gives notice that the principal and interest on $4,000,000 registered 5-20 bonds of March 3, 1865, dated July 1, 1865, and $6,000,000 coupons, will be paid at the U. S. Treasury August 28th.

Cabinet Council.

The cabinet to-morrow will consider the Rio Grande question. Gen. Ord will be present and receive instructions.

Hayes on Morton's Letter.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Tribune's Washington special says: The President is pleased with Morton's letter. It was a fact to have undertaken the support of Packard with the army would have been futile and its result disastrous. At the same time the President did not agree with Morton as to the position and purposes of the Southern people. He did not share Morton's distrust of Southern leaders, but the President declared that whatever may happen in the South now the Republican party can not be held responsible for it. The South is in the hands of Democrats, and that party alone must be held responsible for the conduct of public affairs. The President says he had always been a Republican, and is now, and that the Republican party was never more necessary to the nation than it is to-day. That party, the President said, is good enough for him, and he intended to stand by it. The language of the President showed very clearly that he did not favor a new party organization as such, and he would not be likely to give any such movement his aid.

Ben Butler.

The Tribune's Washington special denies that Butler goes to Colorado to live. He purchased 73,000 acres of land here for English capitalists.

Odds and no Takers.

Speaking of the loss of the steamer the Tribune says the party offered to bet $50,000 against $10,000, that the steamship had not been wrecked. No one was willing to accept the offer.

Ohio Politics.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Tribune's Washington special says: Representative Foster called on the President to-day and had a long interview. The main object of his call, it is understood, was to discuss Ohio politics.

Financial Policy of the Administration.

Foster says the President is certainly in favor of the remonitization of silver. Upon being asked if the Secretary of the Treasury did not disagree with the President on this point and upon the methods of resumption, Foster replied not necessarily, for the reason he did not understand that Sherman has reached any definite conclusion on the subject of the remonitization of silver. Foster thinks Sherman is a little in doubt as to what policy ought to be pursued in this regard. As to that, he might be inclined to favor making the silver dollar a legal tender for a limited amount, say $50. It is the opinion of several persons, who have talked with the President on the subject within the past few days, that he will recommend to Congress that the silver dollar be made a legal tender on equal terms with gold, or for some limited amount.

Mrs. Wm. England, of Salem, is making arrangements to bring together the very best amateur talent of that city, assisted by several amateur musicians of Portland, for a grand musicial entertainment.

Sentence of the Chico Assassins.

OROVILLE, May 28.—The District Court met to-day for the purpose of passing sentence upon the Chico murderers. A number of witnesses were examined to show that F. E. Conway was a weak minded man, easily influenced and liable to get into difficulty. It was shown that his mother died in an insane asylum, having been insane at times for a period during prior to his birth. One witness testified that a man living in Chico and holding a high official position, wanted witness to go into the meetings, held in the woods, join the movement and then propose his name for membership. The district attorney endeavored to find out the name of the person, but the court refused to compel the witness to disclose it, remarking that any man proposing to join such an order was unfit for such official position. Evidence was also introduced showing that public opinion in Chico ran very high against Chinamen, and those employing them, and that the most prominent men in Chico addressed meetings in the town hall, using violent and incendiary language; that the Laborers' Union grew out of these meetings and fire and murder followed. One witness testified that he attended one and went home with the firm expectation that both the Chinamen and shanties would be burnt that night. At the conclusion of the evidence the court said that he had not heard anything that seemed to go in the way of mitigation of Conway's sentence that did not apply equally well to all the rest. They are all young men and no doubt easily led astray. Charles and John Slaughter, E. R. Roberts and E. Conway were sentenced to 25 years' imprisonment; T. W. Stainbrook, who stood trial, got 27½ years. The other indictments against them were dismissed and the prisoners will be taken below on Wednesday.

Pinney's Peculations.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—In connection with the charge preferred against Pinney of embezzling $58,000 from the Ida Elmore Mining Co. while he was treasurer of the company, it is reported that the facts are Pinney, and some other insiders, owe the company a large amount for assessments, and that Pinney entered up assessments on the books as paid without depositing the cash to balance.

Pinney's preliminary examination on the charge of forgery, preferred by Dennis Jordan, was concluded to-day, and the court held him to answer in the sum of $80,000. It is considered probable that Pinney will waive examination on the other charges of forgery.

Complaint was filed in the fourth district court to-day by William B. Carr, against Geo. M. Pinney to recover the sum of $75,615 16, which, at the special instance of Pinney, he (Carr) paid between November 8, 1873, and May 28, 1877. In the same court Carr brings suit against Geo. M. Pinney, E. W. Burr, W. H. Calvert, Savings and Loan Society and Masonic Savings and Loan Society, to recover $200,000 damages, and that defendants be adjudged to have no right, title or interest in certain lands in Kern county.

Rain and Crops.

SACRAMENTO, May 29.—The rain has ceased, fresh southwest wind blowing. No great damage done unless hot days follow. All hay out in the fields can be saved and cured by gentle weather for a few days. In many respects the rain is beneficial. Crop prospects throughout the country are very fine, and better than anticipated. We shall have a surplus of the fruit crop, a fine hop yield, and fully two-thirds of a crop of wheat and barley. Tule lands will make the best yield ever known. Crops on reclaimed lands will be putting in now for two months more.

The Wife Murderer.

VALLEJO, May 29.—Mellon, who was charged by the coroner's jury with the murder of his wife on Thursday night, in Benicia, when brought before Justice Biddell, of that place, for examination, this morning, waived all preliminaries and was given into the custody of the sheriff to await the action of the grand jury. It is stated that a mob surrounded the Benicia lockup on Sunday night for the purpose of lynching Mellon, but Constable Glover has removed the prisoner to a more secure place. Since the investigation by the coroner's jury much more positive evidence of Mellon's guilt has been found.

Homicide.

WOODLAND, May 29.—Mike Nolan was brought to jail last night for fatally shooting Dick Parrott, at Dunnigan's, last evening. All that can be learned of the murder is that Nolan has worked for Parrott and they are supposed to have had difficulty in settling. Coroner Kerlinberg has gone to hold an inquest.

Rainfall.

Rain fell in Woodland amounted to 59-1000 of an inch. Weather now clear, cool and pleasant.

Attempted Murder.

SANTA CRUZ, May 29.—About half-past 2 this morning, about six miles above Soquel, in this county, a man, name unknown, was found in his cabin covered with blood and in an insensible condition, by his room-mate, who says he was awakened by some noise and saw a man noiselessly moving about, and when he sprang up the man ran out of the door. On getting up he called his room-mate, supposing it was him he saw, and going to his partner's bunk, found him covered with blood, with his skull crushed. The wounded man was removed to the county hospital to-day. He is not likely to recover. A man named Hayes was arrested and lodged in jail on suspicion of having committed the deed.

Weather clear and cool.

INDIAN WAR.

Fight with Indians.

CHICAGO, May 29.—The Inter-Ocean's special from Bismarck, D. T., says Lieut. Alfred F. Fuller has just arrived by a steamer from Tongue river, and gives details of a fight with Indians May 7th. Gen. Miles with Cos. F, H, L and G, of the second cavalry and 25 men of the 14th infantry mounted, attacked an Indian village at the mouth of Tongue river, surprised and routing them. They pursued the redskins five miles over a rough country on foot. Fourteen dead Indians were counted on the field, and many others are known to have been

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 30, 1877.

THE PETROLEUM TRADE.

The great rise in coal oil during a year past and the annoying fluctuations in the market price of the article, make an examination of the subject interesting to all readers; for there is no article of more general consumption, and few so nearly indispensable to all classes. Daily production of Pennsylvania oil fields for 1876 was about 25,000 barrels, and at the close of the year was larger than at the beginning. During January of last year the average price of oil at the wells was $1 90 a barrel. In August it sold as high as $4 05. From that time to the end of the year the market exhibited the wildest fluctuations. The secret is that the market is controlled by a monopoly known as the Standard Oil Company, and an authority on the subject says that these masters of the situation manipulate prices as changing views of their interests seem to require. Shipments for the year 1876 out of Pennsylvania amounted to 10,000,000 barrels. In December crude oil was selling at the wells at $3 60, and refined oil at $12 60 per barrel at the seaboard. This last price gives the refiners a clear profit of $500 on every carload of oil. About six years ago this company began its efforts to get control of the petroleum trade of the country. It purchased the principal refineries at many places and "bulldozed" the rest into a combination. The result is that the Standard Oil Company "owns or controls the entire refining capacity of this continent, and is able to dictate prices to the consumers of the world." It has also secured special advantages in the matter of railway transportation, and the people of the oil region, as well as consumers everywhere, are at its mercy. The authority already quoted, writing in January last, said:

The world to-day is contributing to their already enormous profits millions upon millions of dollars, and there is apparently no escape from its continuance. Refined oil, which two or three months ago cost the consumer 15 to 20 cents per gallon, now costs him—and upon the Standard Oil Company's order to "stand and deliver"—35 to 40 cents per gallon! Our foreign markets show even wider fluctuations. Their power and their control of both the crude and refined markets of the world is unquestioned to-day.

It is alleged that the railways in combination with the Standard Oil Company share the profits of this immense scheme; the question is, how can the combination be broken? An oil pipe line to the seaboard has been projected, designed to deliver six to ten thousand barrels every twenty-four hours. It is certain that the plan is a practicable one. But can it succeed against the combination that now so wholly controls production, refining and transportation? Statistics up to the end of 1876 show that there was no diminution, but rather a decided increase of production; and it is asserted with confidence that there is territory undeveloped ample for a supply of 30,000 barrels a day for twenty years to come. It may be added that the daily production for March of this year was 27,527 barrels, against 23,167 barrels for the corresponding month of 1876. We have no statistics later than those for March, but all the facts show the assertion that production is decreasing to be mere pretense, designed to support the claim set up by the monopoly that the enormous advance in prices is due to natural causes.

WAR NOTES.

Already when war was declared great bodies of Russian troops were massed on the Roumanian frontier. Principal headquarters were at Kischineff, and several corps occupying positions on Russia's southern frontier, but massed chiefly along the Pruth, with Kischineff as a center, numbering 265,000 men. The railway distance from Kischineff to the Danube is about 460 miles. At Rutschuk, one of the principal crossing places, the river is three-fourths of a mile wide and has a current of two and a half miles an hour. If the Turks be forced to abandon the line of the Danube, they will fall back to the passes of the Balkan range, some sixty miles south. Here is a good line of natural defense, which perhaps cannot be forced, but can be turned by superiority of numbers. The London News says that from these passes to Constantinople there are no physical obstacles. Within a few miles of the city there is, indeed, a range of hills which English officers think could be made almost impregnable; but although plans were prepared by them with this view, nothing has been done to execute them.

From the theater of the war in Asiatic Turkey to Constantinople the distance is nearly 500 miles. After the fortified places of which Erzeroum is most important, are disposed of, Turkey on that side is defended only by the distances to be traversed by an invading army. Southern ports of Turkey on the Black Sea are likely to fall in the same way Charleston did when Sherman's army moved north through the Carolinas.

Most improbable dispatches are coming through correspondents of the Chicago Times. The inaccuracy, not to say the utter impossibility of events which they have several times professed to relate, has been pointed out by several newspapers. Little credit should therefore be given to its dispatches which assert that England will certainly take a hand in the war at once. It is impossible to believe on such authority that there is a general demand in England for war.

RATHER PROVOKING:

Speaking of the publication recently of several political letters, that of Blaine on the Adamses among them, the Philadelphia Times says there is still another letter that ought to be given to the public, and it goes on to tell of it thus:

We refer to the letter written about the 18th of March by President Hayes to Congressman Garfield, asking him to let Stanley Matthews go to the Senate and declaring that Garfield would be eminently useful in the House and intimating that he might be the Speaker. It has been seen, for Garfield has been compelled to exhibit it to prove to his friends that he wasn't exactly a national idiot, and it is known that it begins with "My Dear General," and ends with "Faithfully your friend, R. B. Hayes." Now that it is discovered that Garfield gave up the substance of a Senatorship for the shadow, and hardly even the shadow, of the Speakership, the contents of the letter are oozing out as he is squeezed by malicious enemies or goaded by capricious friends, and the whole thing had best be given to the public without any more squirming or delay.

In an article published yesterday it was stated that in the height of an old political controversy in Oregon "the story was started that Mr. Corbett while in the Senate made a hundred thousand dollars by speculation in iron in consequence of information obtained through a Senate committee of an intended reduction in tariff." By inadvertence the word "reduction" was used for increase, in this sentence. The context, however, shows the error. We may add here that this one unfounded statement, starting with one hundred thousand dollars and in a few years growing to a million, is a specimen of many things of this kind. During the heat of the controversy that prevailed among men here many charges against various persons were presented, including no doubt others against Mr. Corbett which were quite as unfounded as this one. When men are engaged in an intense personal warfare such things are culpable enough; but it is the part of scurrile and cowardly scavengers to persist in working them over for years afterwards and adding new particulars supplied solely by their own imaginations.

A thorough examination has been made of the condition of affairs in the New York custom house, and as a result there is to be a large reduction of the force and general reform of methods. The report strongly sets forth the evils of the old system of making appointments, and shows how the service suffers by the demoralization which it induces. One-fifth of the force is to be dismissed; and no doubt a similar proportion of employes could be spared from more than half of the custom houses of the country. In the old system of politics the "patronage" of the New York custom house was regarded as Senator Conkling's property, and he has so used it. He is known not to be friendly to the administration, and this invasion of his "rights" may in part account for it.

Now that Tony virtually admits that O'Meara is his correspondent "Carl," nothing more need be said about it.

FRED DOUGLASS.

In that speech which so enraged the people of Washington, Fred Douglass drew this picture of the typical Washingtonian. The fact that they got mad about it shows that it cut very close to the line of truth:

The Washingtonian has now a leisurely air, in no hurry, and looking as if he had lots of time on his hands. His first object is to impress you with the idea that he was, or is, or hopes to be, a great man; that he is a gentleman. In walking, his gait is slow; his muscles does not seem to be of much use to him. He can do as much sitting as a Turk, and can spend more time in an easy chair than any other man on the continent. He always carries a cane—walks, rides, sits, talks and gesticulates with a cane, which is, however, more for ornament than for use. All Washingtonians wear their hats over their eyes in a somber, unhappy and sinister way; a fashion probably learned from members of Congress, who wear their hats in this way sometimes to avoid recognition, and sometimes because of intent thinking. The Washingtonian has a strong negro pronunciation, learned from the slaves. Besides these, there are office-seekers of all kinds, and more people trying to get something for nothing than in any other city in the country. To be honest in Washington is to be considered a fool. Nobody says 'No;' everybody says, acts, and smiles 'Yes.'"

POLITICAL ITEMS.

Democratic seekers of State and county offices in Ohio are as numerous as Republican holders of Federal offices. In one county there are forty-one Democrats who would like something, and announce that fact in the newspapers.

The Cincinnati Commercial says that "those who assume that President Hayes expects Southern Representatives to go over to the support of Garfield for Speaker of the next House, in gratitude for his Southern policy, have a very feeble appreciation of the President's genius of common sense."

The Atlanta Constitution, one of the stiffest Democratic papers in the South, says in reference to the Mississippi outrages: "The local press saw nothing in the recent dastardly butchery to condemn; the local authorities did not think it best to arrest the blood-stained participants, and if Kember county had been left to itself no one would have been brought to justice for an assault that has horrified the entire country." Some Northern papers have thought it worth while to tell a different story.

OFFICE OF INSURANCE COMMISSIONER, San Francisco, Feb. 5, 1877.

I, J. W. Foard, hereby certify that I am Insurance Commissioner of the State of California, and have supervision of insurance business in the State, and as such Commissioner, further certify that the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California is a corporation properly organized under the laws of this State, and being in a solvent condition and possessed of a paid up capital of One Hundred Thousand Dollars, equal to Gold Coin of the United States, is authorized to do business in the State. And I further certify that, upon a personal examination of the books and papers of the said company at the close of the year eighteen hundred and seventy-six, its statement as of this date, and now on file in this office, was shown to be correct and true, the company being possessed of good, valid assets amounting to one million two hundred and sixty-four thousand eight hundred and thirty-six dollars and eighty-six cents* ($1,264,836 86), and having outstanding liabilities, as defined by the laws of the State, amounting to nine hundred and sixteen thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars and five cents ($916,750 05), exclusive of the Capital Stock.

(L.S.) As witness my hand and official seal, the day and year first above written.
J. W. FOARD,

*Extract from Report of A. D. SMITH, ex-Deputy Insurance Commissioner.]

J. G. EDWARDS, Publisher Coast Review,
Dear Sir:—In pursuance of your request I have made an examinat on of the Assets and Liabilities of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California, as they existed on the 31st day of December, 1876, as shown by the books and papers of the Company, and as a result of such examination I beg to report as follows:
* * * * * * *

Total Assets, Gold	$1,281,847 59
Re-Insurance Reserve, American Experience, 4½ per ct.	$886,031 49
Claims for Death Losses	28,700 00
Due on Account Salaries and Rents	2,019 02
Total Liabilities, Gold	916,750 51
Net surplus to Policy-holders, Gold	$365,097 08
Company's paid-up Capital	$100,000 00

The above is, I believe, a true and fair statement of the Company's condition, Dec. 31, 1876.
In conclusion, I beg to say that I found the Company's business thoroughly systematized—its books and papers in exce lent condition and neatly kept. Every facility was extended to me by all the officers and employees of the Company to enable me to make my examination t oroughly. Books, papers, and accounts were freely exhibited to me. There was no attempt to hold back or conceal anything. I am satisfied the Company courts the most rigid scrutiny. For court ous treatment, I beg to return thanks to the officers and attaches of the Company.
Respectfully submitted, A. D. SMITH.

CITY.

SUITS INSTITUTED.—Suits for damages have been instituted in the State Circuit Court as follows: The father of the late Frank Cowell, who was run over in East Portland some weeks ago, and instantly killed, has entered suit against the Oregon and California Railway Company. Damages have been laid at $5,000. The father of the unfortunate boy, it will be remembered, was appointed by the county court administrator of the estate of the deceased. Suit has also been entered by Pat. Connor. A few weeks ago Mr. Sullivan, while engaged in painting a building on the upper portion of the city, was attacked by a vicious young cow belonging to Mr. Connor, and impaled on the horns of the enraged brute. He is said to have sustained serious injury.

AFTER THE RENEGADES.—A few days ago Col. E. C. Watkins, Inspector of Indian Affairs for the Department of the Interior, arrived in this city from San Francisco, and to-morrow morning he expects to leave for Eastern Oregon, for the purpose of completing all the straggling bands of renegade Indians to remove to and locate upon the reservation. Col. Watkins will be accompanied by Gen. Howard, which officer will co-operate and advise with him in the accomplishment of the same office. Both appointments are a high and deserved recognition of merit.

GLORIOUS FOURTH.—The good, patriotic people of Hubbard and vicinity are making preparations to commemorate the services of the Revolutionary fathers by a rousing celebration on the coming Fourth of July. John F. Caples, of this city, as orator, will "fire" the American Eagle bird and watch the echoes with his eloquence on the glorious occasion.

GONE TO THE ASYLUM.—J. D. McDonald, a carpenter, was sent to the insane asylum yesterday. The case is not an extreme one, and it is hoped by his friends that the unfortunate man may be soon restored to his right mind.

FAST DRIVING.—We have observed many instances of fast driving on the thoroughfares. We believe there is an ordinance forbidding it, and the authorities should see that it is stopped.

MATINEE TO-DAY.—All the children of the schools and ladies attending the Swiss Bell Ringers' matinee this afternoon, at Masonic Hall, will be presented with a gromo by the management.

FLOWERS.—Those who have flowers to contribute for decoration ceremonies are requested to leave them at the hall, corner Third and Alder streets, at any time between 9 and 10 o'clock to-day.

MEMORIAL DAY.

And what shall we bring but flowers,
To hallow the heroes' sleep;
The gifts of the dew and daylight,
That ever memorial keep:
Of the spirit immortal and ever,
In bursting the mold of death;
Renew the perishing garlands,
On the shadowy brow of Faith.

To-day the people all over the Union make their annual visits to strew flowers upon the graves of the warrior dead. As year by year the dark drama of the rebellion recedes into the past, and as later years crowd its import and incidents from the memory of men, it might be thought that a celebration of the struggle would grow dim, or its ardor abate, and the whole custom of annual commemoration eventually become obsolete. When only the political issue shall remain, this gradual decay of interest will probably take place. But for the present, and during the current generation, there are powerful promptings of personal tribute. We find inspiration of patriotic sentiment deepened and intensified, whithersoever we turn, by the quickening influence of domestic affection. Sacred as the bones of fathers, brothers and sisters under the little mounds, so long will mothers gladly avail themselves of a set occasion for recalling the personal traits of the departed, and of simultaneously making public testation of pride that their blood flowed in defense of country.

FESTIVALS.

The festival given last evening at Union chapel by the ladies connected with that church was largely attended and a very enjoyable time experienced. There was an abundance of cream and luscious berries, and plenty of delicacies who were not at all backward in "filling the specimens." The proceeds were quite substantial.

This (Wednesday) evening the ladies of Portland will give a strawberry and ice cream festival at Odd Fellows' hall, the proceeds of which are to be applied to the purchase of a bell for Hood Hook and Ladder Company. During the evening there will be musical exercises and amusements. Miss Sedlak will perform a piano solo, and vocal selections rendered by Miss Mamie Wilkins, Mrs. W. W. Knott and others. During the festival the floor will probably be cleared for a social hop indulged in. The Knott Brothers have kindly cons

Mr. Watkins will be accompanied by Gen. Howard, which officer will co-operate and advise with him in the accomplishment of the work in view. These Indians, we understand, are separate and distinct from the Nez Perces, and sustain no tribal relations with Chief Joseph's band. The number of these renegades is estimated at about 300. They are in small bands over a large area of country on both sides of the Columbia river.

JUST CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT.—Complaint is made of the action of certain persons who have been employed to improve lots in Lone Fir Cemetery. These complaints are principally lodged against those individuals who improve the lots by building brick or stone-work around them. In making such improvements, there is always more or less rubbish left after the work is done. In a good many instances this debris is cleared away and piled up on some other person's lot. This may be all right, but it is scarcely in accordance with the golden rule. Mention is made of this matter with the hope that in the future such practices may be abstained from.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U. S. Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon, May 29, 1877:

LECTURE.—Dr. Paul M. Brennan, the well known medical gentleman and popular lecturer, will deliver a lecture at Masonic Hall next Saturday evening for the benefit of the orphans under charge of the Sisters of the Holy Names. His subject on this occasion will be "The Past, Present and Future of the United States." Preceding the lecture will be several vocal and instrumental selections rendered by some of our most talented citizens.

THAT FIRE AGAIN.—Monday evening the roof of a dwelling belonging to Mr. J. O'Neil, a merchant tailor, situated on Washington street, was discovered burning out. Considerable excitement was occasioned over the discovery, but no alarm was sounded. John Reed equal to the emergency, for he scaled the roof as nimbly as a cat, and threw down a quantity of salt, which effectually did the business. No damage. Only a good scare.

ARRESTED.—Mr. Joseph F. Bliss, who has been employed for some years in one of the offices of the Department of the Columbia, at last has been promoted. He has been appointed chief clerk in the adjutant general's office. Mr. Benjamin C. Gallup has been promoted to the position of assistant clerk in the same office. Both appointments are fitting and deserved recognition of merit.

GLORIOUS FOURTH.—The good, patriotic people of Hubbard and vicinity are making preparations to commemorate the services of the Revolutionary fathers by a rousing celebration on the coming Fourth of July. Hon. Asahel Coples, of this city, as orator, will fire the American Eagle bird and wake the echoes with his eloquence on the glorious occasion.

AMUSEMENTS.

MATINEE—LAST NIGHT.—Masonic Hall was comfortably filled last evening on the occasion of the second appearance of the famous Allegh anians. The same programme was repeated as was presented the opening night. It was very enjoyable and keenly appreciated, the audience in several instances insisting upon encores. The Wymans were quite immense and fairly captured the audience by their very cleverly personated specialities. They are a great acquisition to the combination, and have advanced to the position of public favorites. This afternoon a matinee performance will be given to accommodate ladies and children. To-night will positively be the last appearance of the Bell Ringers. Do not fail to hear them.

SHOCKING MURDER AT PORT TOWNSEND.

On Friday last, Capt. Chas. Howard, of Port Townsend, was shot and killed by Henry L. Sutton, a saloon keeper there. There had been a quarrel between them a few days before about a dog. Friday afternoon Howard was standing in front of the saloon engaged in conversation with some one, when Sutton, who had evidently been drinking, came to the door and called out to him in a gruff, irate tone: "Say, come here Howard, I want you!" Howard made some reply about the saloon being a bawdy house, and that he didn't go into such places. Sutton turned back into the saloon in a fit of rage, and immediately came out with a revolver and commenced firing. Howard was hit twice; a shot in the abdomen was fatal. After Sutton had emptied his revolver, he turned to the ex sheriff of the county, who was standing near, and said: "Damn you; if I had another charge I would send it through you on general principles." Sutton then marched back into the saloon, and seizing a Henry rifle standing behind the bar, threatened that he would shoot anyone who dared to interfere with him. He then went behind the bar coolly with his rifle still in his hand, took what money there was in the drawer, placed it in his pocket, reloaded his revolver, gathered up some effects he had in the saloon, took a double-barreled shotgun, which was also behind the bar, walked out on the wharf, got into his boat, pulled her in under the wharf, where he placed her in order to leave; set sail and sailed out of the harbor. He shortly after fell in with the steamer Favorite, and informed the Captain that a safe robbery had been committed in Townsend; that he was in pursuit of the burglars and must go to Victoria. The Captain informed him that he could not take him to Victoria, upon which he told him if he could land him at Dungeness that would do. He was taken to Dungeness, and as the steamer was passing out of sight, on her way back, he was seen sailing out into the Straits in his boat. It is supposed that he will take passage on some outward bound vessel, if possible, for some foreign port. The fact, says the Seattle Intelligencer, that such a cold-blooded, fiendish murder as that of Captain Howard could be committed in broad daylight in a town like Port Townsend, before a throng of spectators, and the heartless wretch who committed it be allowed to escape as Sutton did, without even a man daring to raise his hand against him, seems almost incredible, and has hardly a parallel in the annals of crime. Still it is so.

Rev. A. J. Hunsaker writes from Turner's, May 29th: "Meetings continue at this place with unabated interest. Congregations are large and attentive. The writer is preaching every evening and at 2 P. M. each day. Will probably continue over Sunday."

The Debris of the System

Must either pass through its natural channels of exit, the bowels, the kidneys and the pores, or in default thereof, poison and disorder the fluids of the system. In order to effect the complete expulsion of this dangerous refuse, the organs through which it passes off must be active and unobstructed. Fortunately there is a certain means of rendering them so when they are not. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters stimulate the action of the excretory organs, and by diffusing a genial warmth through the circulation, encourage moderate perspiration. By this triple effect the exodus of the fœcal and other waste matters are encouraged, and the system freed from peril it would otherwise incur. The action of the bowels which follows the use of this beneficent alterative is easy and unaccompanied by griping, and its stimulative effect upon the urinary organs very conducive to their local health.

CATARRH.

Twelve Years of Suffering.

Gentlemen—About twelve years ago, while traveling with Father Kemp's Old Folks Concert Troupe as a tenor singer, I took a severe cold and was laid up at Newark, N. J. This cold brought on a severe attack of Catarrh, which I battled with every known remedy for four weeks without avail, and was finally obliged to give up a most desirable position and return home unable to sing a note. For three years afterwards I was unable to sing at all. The first attack of Catarrh had left my nasal organs and throat so sensitive that the slightest cold would bring on a fresh attack, leaving me prostrated. In this way I continued to suffer. The last attack the severest I ever had, was terrible. I suffered the most excruciating pain in my head was so hoarse as to be scarcely able to speak, and coughed incessantly. I thought I was going into quick consumption and I firmly believe that had these symptoms continued without relief they would have rendered me an easy victim. When in this distressing condition, I commenced the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH, very reluctantly, I confess, as I had tried all the advertised remedies without benefit. The first dose of this wonderful medicine gave me the greatest relief. It is hardly possible for one whose head aches, eyes ache, who can scarcely articulate distinctly on account of the choking accumulations in his throat, to realize how much relief I obtained from the first application of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. Under its influence, both internal and external, I rapidly recovered, and by an occasional use of the remedy since have been entirely free from Catarrh, for the first time in twelve years.

Respectfully yours, GEO. W. JOLBROOK.

Waltham, Mass., Jan. 8, 1876.

P. S.—I purchased the Radical Cure of George H. Rogers, Druggist, Rumford Building.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH,

HAS worked a revolution in the treatment of Catarrh: it has demonstrated beyond all doubt that this disease, even in its severest forms, is curable, and that comfort and happiness may be made to follow years of misery, years of suffering, by a persistent use of it. The method of treatment originated by Dr. Sanford, viz., the local and constitutional, by a remedy prepared by distillation, is the only one ever offered to the public that will bear the test of time.

Sanford's Radical Cure

Is Prepared by Distillation.

EVERY plant and herb that yields its medical essence to it is placed in an improved still and there mingled with a solvent liquid, which, by heat, is made to pass over into the receiver, bearing with it the healing essences or juices of these plants or herbs, free from every contamination, pure and colorless. Thus the active medical constituents of thousands of pounds of herbs may be condensed into a very small compass. In this way SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE is divested of all the nauseating, worthless features of all other remedies, while its curative properties are increased tenfold. It is positively the greatest medical triumph of the age.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1.00. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston.

AN OLD SAILOR'S YARN.

A BLOCKADE-RUNNER IN LOVE—THE DISASTROUS VOYAGE OF THE "STORMY PETREL."

Spin him that yarn, Bill, about that skipper that got gal-struck," said the old sailor: "not as I consider it anythin' agin him, cause, of course he couldn't help it. There comes a time in the history of every man, whether he be a sailor man or a chap as lives ashore, when some woman will get the weather-gauge of him, and he be to make a fool of hisself on her account. I've done it myself, and can't say as I regret it; and you, sir, although you're young, and mayhap have kept clear of 'em so far, will find your time come, and will be as big a spooney as all the rest of us has been.

"I don't jist mind his name," said Bill, "but I knows that the boat were called the Stormy Petrel, a neat little craft, and as fast as they make 'em. I jined her when she were off in the stream, and when they weren't no crew belongin' to her, nobody but the officers. We had a little boat as one man could pull, and the fust night I were aboard, the old man he comes to me, and says he, 'Mr. Wood,' said he, 'would you mind jist pullin' me ashore in the dinguey? I've got a little business I wants to attend to, and I don't like to trust the boat ashore alone.'

"'Ay, ay, sir,' says I, and I hauls the boat up to the gangway and hops into her, and pulls him ashore.

"'Come ashore for me at 12 o'clock,' says he as he went off, and I pulls off agin, not in the best of humors, 'cause I didn't cotton to bein' broke of my rest that way a stoppin' up till midnight. How's'ever there wer'nt no help for it, and I were ashore prompt on time; but nary a old man were there, and I cooled my heels in the boat for nigh onto a hour afore he hove in sight. What made it worse were that I had neglected to bring my pipe ashore, and hadn't so much as a single chew of terbacker in my breeches' pocket. The skipper come at last, how's'ever, and with him a gal, and then there were another wait for fifteen minutes or so, while they were a-talkin' sweet to each other, and then the old man had to go off agin to see her safe home, and the result were that it were 2 o'clock afore we got off aboard agin.

"Well, of course he done the square thing when he got off, and invited me into his room, and we had a couple of snifters of brandy together, and he tells me to keep mum about the gal and all that, and he had a good deal to say about what a nice gal she were, which were principally interestin' on account of the brandy. Well, sir, this night were a sample of all the other nights from this on, till we went to sea, and we was detained one day later than we ought to have been, on account of some excuse which the old man made, when I know'd sartin it were only that he wanted to have one more night's courtin' with this gal. How's'ever, we got off at last, and away we went and had a first-rate time over to the coast, gittin' in on the beach away to the west'ard of Fort Caswell jist at dark one afternoon, and at eight bells we steamed ahead full speed to run in. About midnight we judged ourselves pretty nigh up with the fort, and slowed her down, jist turnin' over the wheels enough for to giv' her steerage way. About two bells, as I was standin' on the bridge with the old man and the pilot, a lookin' out sharp for the cruisers, all of a sudden I seen a gun-boat jist for'ard of the port beam. I pints her out to the captain, and at once he passes the word to the man at the wheel to 'hard a port.'

"'What the devil is that for?' say the pilot, 'steady, steady a starboard!'

"'Port, I tell you, says the old man agin; 'I've got charge of this boat; there ain't no chance for to go in to-night; we must run off shore.'

"'You may run to the devil if you like,' says the pilot; 'there never were a better chance in the world, and I wash my hands of the whole business; when you wants me for to take you in, you can giv' me a call,' and he went down off the bridge in a great rage.

"The only answer the old man made was to ring the bell 'to go ahead, full speed,' and away we went off shore at about fourteen miles an hour. After runnin' a couple of hours we stopped her, and then the old man sent for the ol of.

"'Well, pl ot,' says he, 'what do you think of it? It's too late to try agin to-night, ain't it?'

"'I should say it were,' says the pilot; 'and now I'd like to know, if you'll tell me, what the blazes you turned her round for when she were agoin' so fine? that these craft never seen us, nor wouldn't have done. I've passed a heap sight closer to 'em than that, and we may try a thousand times and never get so good a chance agin. Why, she giv me my position, and if you hadn't turned her round we'd a been by this time at anchor in the river.'

"'Didn't you see them three gunboats right ahead of us?' says the old man.

"'No,' says the pilot.

"'I thought not,' says the old man. 'By George! it were lucky I seen 'em; we was right in among 'em, and I expected every minnit they'd open onto us; fact is, pilot, you had her too far off shore; you ought to have run the beach down and passed inside of 'em.'

"Well, the pilot didn't say no more, but afterwards he come to me and says he, 'Did you see any more than the one boat when we turned round?'

"'No, sir,' says I.

"'There weren't no more,' says he; 'twere as clear a case of funk as ever I seen; and you mark my words, we ain't a goin' to git into Wilmington at all—we won't have such a chance as that agin in a hurry.'

"Well, we laid on and off all that day, and never seen a vessel. At 4 o'clock in the arternoon the old man gave the order to run in.

"'You're too soon,' says the pilot; 'you'd better let her lay till 6 or 7 o'clock; you'll get in among 'em afore dark at this rate.'

"'I'm a goin' this,' said the old man, 'and I wants you to know, pilot, that I'm captain of my own craft.'

"'Very well, sir,' says the pilot, 'I washes my hands of the whole business and I'm agoin' below when you require my services, let me know.'

"So away we went on that bright afternoon, steamin' ahead full speed, and leaving a long streak of black smoke behind us for to mark our track. I suppose it wanted half an hour to dark when the mast-head sung out, 'Steamer on the starboard bow!' and another minnit arter he sings out agin, 'Another steamer on the starboard bow; can see four of 'em now, sir; appear to be comin' this way.'

"'The devil,' says the old man; 'in too soon, by Jove! Hard a starboard,' and around we went, and soon lost sight of 'em in the darkness.

"'It won't do to try her to-night,' says the old man to the mate; 'they'll be too much on the look-out. I reckon we'll run out around the Fryin' Pan, and see if we can get in by Fort Fisher.'

"Well, sir, you know the Fryin' Pan shoals extend out some twenty-two miles, and afore we got around and up with the fleet onto that side, the old man decided it were too late for that night. It ain't no use making a long story of it. We humbugged for a couple of days more, and then, as we had coal enough for to reach back to Bermudy, why of course there was no help for it but to go back for coal, and we done it.

"Well, the old man he spun the owners a good yarn of how he had been chased off, and laid the blame onto the pilot, and so they thought he'd done his best, and went to work coalin' her up agin. The pilot had got his money afore he left port, and he went ashore, and the crew agreed to stay if they got another advance, which the officers demanded likewise; so you see it were a matter of two or three thousand pounds expense to the owners for a ship to put back, and took the cream off the profits of the voyage, but the night we got in I pulled the old man ashore as usual, and he seen his gal, and I made up my mind that this were his only reason for comin' back, and I guess I were right. He were struck, you see, and he couldn't bear the idea of bein' caught and sent North and seperated from her.

"Well, sir, arter coalin', we started agin, and the second day out we got a snorter from about west, northwest, and instead of slowin' of her down, the old man jist steamed head onto it, a drivin' her till finally she took one or two seas aboard, and smashed in the deck, washed away the bulwarks both sides, took the foremast out of her, and well nigh made a wreck of her; and once more her head had to be put toward Bermudy.

"It wern't ignorance, sir; he were a good sailorman as ever trod a deck, but he were bound to git back alongside of that gal, and this were the way he done it. As we come to a anchor the skipper says to me, 'Wood, jist lave up the little boat, and put me ashore, that's a good fellow,' and as we were a goin' ashore we meets one of the owners comin' off.

"'What the blazes brings you back again?' says the owner.

"'Come aboard,' says the old man, 'and I'll soon show you.'

"So we turned back, and he took the owner on board and showed him the damage. Well, of course there weren't nothing to be said; it were a act of God evident, and there were no way but to fix her up and start her again. It ain't no use tellin' you of our adventures on that third trip. We didn't get in, we was chased frequent, and we got to leakin' bad from drivin' of her agin the sea on every occasion. When it come to it that we be to go back the old man didn't dare to go to Bermudy agin, and he stuck her for Nassau. One of the owners came down there jist as we were goin' onto the dock for repairs. He says to the old man, 'I think you won't be astonished when I tell you that we have come to the conclusion to try another man.'

"'I don't wonder at it at all,' says the old man; 'fact is, I don't think I'm fit for this business,' and so he left, and as quick as he could git there he goes back to Bermudy and gits spliced to his gal I've been tellin' you of.

"'Well, sir, I left her too, in Nassau, 'cause I thought nothin' but bad luck could come of such a broken v'yage as this, and I were right for they shipped another skipper, and he tryin' to run in, he struck on a wreck on the New Inlet bar, and she were a total loss. That were a severe scald for the owners, and shows that blockade runnin' weren't all profit by no means, and this here all come of that there skipper gittin' gal-struck." SEA.

TUESDAY EVENING, May 29, 1877.

Gold in New York, 106¾.

Legal Tenders in Portland—buying 93¾; selling, 94¼.

Silver Coin—1½@5 per cent. discount.

The week so far has presented no new features in the local money market, and the condition of ease noted for some time past is reported to continue. The requirements of the season up to this time have not come up to the expectation of capitalists who anticipated a far greater demand, especially from the fishing interests. The rains of May have also somewhat retarded business generally and made the wool trade particularly backward in setting in in full volume. For these and other reasons, the accumulations of funds in bank have not been at all diminished, and rates instead of being firmer are perhaps less stiff than they were two months ago. There is, however, some disposition on the part of lenders to husband their resources to meet the wants of the market when the wheat crop is to be moved. The call for that object will, however, be largely met by outside capital, and comparatively its effects on the local market will tend to reduce the surplus very little. In fact the whole theory of the vast requirements made on the capital of the country is more in theory than otherwise, especially in a country where the business of selling and shipping is connected as in Oregon. Though it may not be so in other parts of the world, here the movement of the crops makes a difference only temporary, as the funds are drawn from the depositories when the wheat buyer or shipper has it circulated among the producers, ship owners, etc., and when the former has a cargo on board, he sells it and returns the proceeds to the same depository. The producers pay the expense of harvesting, and the remainder soon finds its way again into the ordinary channels of circulation, so that moving the crops affects the general condition of the money market, much less than is generally supposed, especially when we consider the fact that a greater portion of the crop is purchased and shipped by firms here for parties who reside elsewhere, and who furnish other than home capital with which to transact the business.

The preparations that have been made so far this season to move Oregon's wheat crop have involved but very little outlay, as we hear of no arrangements for vessels which have any extent, and though a few are en route for this port with cargoes, and these will probably take cargoes of wheat on their outward voyage, we know of no charters for loading with the next crop. The arrangements for that purpose are nearly all yet to be made.

Domestic Produce.

The active movement in breadstuffs induced by remunerative prices which have prevailed for a few weeks past has about died out, and receipts from all directions are now light. The surplus wheat yet in the country will little more than supply the State mills until the new crop comes in, with perhaps an occasional shipment to San Francisco. Quotations for wheat are almost entirely nominal, and though a small lot is offered now and then, it is seldom that views of holders and buyers can be reconciled, and transactions occur only when the proposed buyer can see a place to put his purchase on saving terms. There appear to be very few parties in the market giving the cereal much attention at this time, and though the price is nominally much above the rates prevailing most of the time during the past season, offers to sell find much less acceptance because all buyers know the difficulty of collecting enough to make a shipment that will pay for the handling. Flour is in fair demand both for shipment and the local trade at the same rates which have ruled for a week past. The supply though answering the demand reasonably, is not as large as the trade could handle profitably. The report that it will perhaps be necessary to import flour from California to this State before harvest, is not at all likely to prove true, as by drawing out the surplus wheat in the State, Oregon could spare several thousand bushels and yet have an abundance left for home consumption.

In other commodities there is a moderate amount of activity in the market with no important change in the quotations to note. Oats, mill feed, hay, etc., show some dullness, as also do provisions and dairy products. Wool, hides, etc., are in good demand, and prices, though showing no appreciation, are firm. Wool is coming forward more freely, but it is evident the bulk of the spring clip is yet back. We hear that a good many wool-growers will ship their own product either individually or in clubs.

New York Freights and Markets.

NEW YORK, May 28.—There has been slightly more activity at the wharves of Pacific coast ships to-day, but still there are evidences of dullness which prevail in the market; shipments confined chiefly to heavy goods, and vessels are now sailing without being full, which is owing to a great falling off of shipments of dry goods, leaf tobacco, glass ware and other light but bulky freight. Rates remain very steady, but it is probable that they have about reached the top notch, as ship owners have discovered that the demand for their vessels for transatlantic business has not been as great as anticipated, while in the meantime California advices have improved, and they are not so exorbitant in their view, while at the same time all the lines have a supply of tonnage to last them fully 60 days. Hence it is not probable that rates will be further advanced.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship George W. Elder left San Francisco for this port at the usual hour this forenoon with freight and passengers.

There are now in the port of San Francisco vessels disengaged with an aggregate registered tonnage of over 30,000 tons.

The City of Chester will sail for San Francisco Thursday morning at 3 o'clock.

The steamship California will sail for Victoria, Fort Wrangel and Sitka at 3 A. M. on Saturday.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS OF DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

In the Treatment of Chronic Disease.

Positive Proof of his Wonderful Skill.

Testimony that Cannot be Contradicted.

Reliable Witnesses Testifying What he has Done for Them.

Perfect Cures where all other Treatment had Failed.

Crowds Coming from all Parts of the Country to Visit Him.

The Following Certificates Speak for Themselves:

TO DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—

For the past year and a half I have been suffering from Nervous and General Debility, Kidney Disease, loss of Flesh and Strength, dizziness in the head and a constant pain through the back and loins. I became so debilitated and broken down that I was unfitted for business. I have been to Victoria and all over the coast under medical treatment for the past nine months, without receiving any benefit whatever, and had almost given up hopes of ever recovering, until I came under your treatment, about seven weeks ago. From the very first your treatment seemed to work like a charm, and I constantly improved from the beginning. I have gained 14 pounds of flesh, and I am now, thanks to your skillful treatment, perfectly well, and am able to return to my business on the Snohomish. JAMES KING.

Seattle, March 31, 1877.

To the People: I have been troubled with chronic Nasal Catarrh for years, the disease being so aggravated that there was constantly an effusion of matter passing down into my throat behind the palate and down through my nostrils.

My nose became depressed between the eyes and swol en on each side. I was told by physicians that it was a polypus; that some of the blood vessels were involved and that the removal would endanger my life by hemorrhage. I became so bad that I made up my mind that I must have immediate relief or die.

As a last resort I applied to Dr. Paul M. Brenan, who after a moment's examination, determined what to do. He said the nasal bone was involved and diseased, and that there would have to be a part or of it removed. He at once removed the bone tumor containing the ulcer; also the diseased portion of bone and pumentory gland and cured the catarrh. I am now perfectly well and as free from disease as ever I was in my life.

THOMAS D. MURPHY.

Seattle, April 4th, 1877.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—Dear Sir: I take great pleasure in stating for the benefit of those who are afflicted with any chronic disease, that I am now a well man. For the past two years I have been under the medical treatment of different physicians, from which I have received no benefit. I have been suffering with general and nervous debility, a difficulty in my stomach, and at times dizziness and severe headach, almost incapacitating me for work. About three weeks ago I put myself under your care, and I can say with delight that I am cured and feel like myself again, after having partaken of your skillful treatment. To me now, labor seems a pleasure. I say this much, hoping it will be the means of attracting the suffering to you who can relieve and cure them.

Your's Truly, JOHN BALLARD,
Employed at Colman's Saw Mill, Seattle.

[I will not publish any cures performed by me unless by the full consent of the parties.]

NEW YORK CUSTOM HOUSE.

Report of the Congressional Commission.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The custom house commission made a partial report to the Secretary of the Treasury on affairs in the New York custom house. The commission find that the force now employed in the custom house, the naval office and surveyor's office, numbering altogether 1,038, excluding for the present the appraiser's department, may safely be reduced in numbers by about 20 per cent. The commission propose the abolition of the office of deputy collector at large, which is now vacant, and the office of other deputy collectors and acting deputies, the suspension of the office of deputy collector at Jersey City, and the continued vacancy in the office of assistant collector and discharge of the deputy surveyor. They further report that the hours of employment, which commence nominally at 9, but in practice generally at 10 o'clock, should in all departments be from 9 o'clock until 4 P. M., excepting where a longer term is prescribed by law. A further reduction can be made should measures be adopted by the department under the present law, or Congress, in future legislation for the consolidation of separate departments or simplification of the general system. The fact is that appointments are made on political influence, as the appointments have been made in great part under political pressure from party considerations and with insufficient regard to the fitness of appointees. The commission report as their conclusion from the evidence given, and from their own observation, that a part of the force now employed in the service are deficient in proper attention to business, as well as in business qualifications and integrity of character. A few of them are employed more or less in private business to the possible detriment in some cases to the interests of the service, and that some fraudulently accept money for services rendered in their official capacity. The commission think the proposed reduction of force should be made in various divisions and classes, after careful scrutiny and examination in each division, in such a manner as the wisdom of the department may determine, to the end that the government may retain the most faithful and efficient of its present officials. Men are appointed to positions requiring often the skill and experience of experts, generally at the request of politicians and political associations in this and other States, with little or no examination into the fitness of appointees, beyond the recommendation of their friends. This is unsound in principle, dangerous in practice, demoralizing in its influence and calculated to encourage and perpetuate official ignorance, inefficiency and corruption. There can be no adequate protection to the customs service, for the honor of the government, the rights of importers and interests of the nation until the service is freed from the control of party and organized on a strictly business basis with the same guarantees for efficiency, and finally, in the selection of the chief and subordinate officers that would be required by the prudent merchant. Under the present system officers who are appointed through political influence are expected to make their offices contribute in turn to the support of the party, and that the amount of contributions asked from men is fixed by a percentage on their respective salaries. Most of officials thus assessed accede to the demand, and some repair their diminished salaries by exacting or accepting from merchants unlawful gratuities. The result of inquiries in the appraiser's office are reserved for a future report, but it is stated grave irregularities seem to exist.

Appended to the report are the following letters:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, May 26, 1876.

SIR—I beg leave to call your attention to the accompanying partial report of the commission appointed to examine into the custom house in New York, especially to that part relating to the appointments upon political influence without due regard to efficiency. As this involves questions of general policy which affects other departments of your administration, I desire instructions as to the rules you wish adopted on the subject matter, so that they may be applied in the forms proposed in the new custom house. Respectfully yours,
JOHN SHERMAN

To the President.

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
WASHINGTON, May 26, 1877.

MY DEAR SIR: I have read the partial report of the commission appointed to examine into the New York custom house. I concur with the commission in their recommendations. It is my wish that the collection of revenue should be free from partisan control and organized on a strictly business basis, with the same guarantees for efficiency and fidelity in the selection of the chief and subordinate officers that would be required by a prudent merchant. Party leaders should have no more influence on appointments than other equally respectable citizens. No assessments for political purposes on officers or subordinates should be allowed. No useless officers or employes should be retained. No officer should be required or permitted to take part in the management of political organizations, caucuses, conventions or election campaigns. Their right to vote and to express their views on public questions either orally or through the press, is not denied, provided it does not interfere with the discharge of their official duties. Respectfully, R. B. HAYES.
HON. JOHN SHERMAN.

Secretary Sherman, in a letter to the commissioners, says the report is approved, and a reduction of 20 per cent. will be made. The hours of employment, after May 31st, will be from 9 A. M. till 4 P. M. The method of carrying into effect the reduction of the force must be mainly left to the collector. He thanks the commissioners for their care, ability and industry in conducting the inquiry. In another letter, the secretary encloses the report of the commission to Collector Archer and says the dismissal of several of the employes will fall mainly on the collector, who will see that the most efficient and trustworthy officers are retained, those whose industry, integrity and good habits give guaranties for faithful services honestly rendered. Other things being equal, those will be preferred whose sympathies are with the party in power; but persons in office ought not to be expected to serve their party to the neglect of official duty, nor promote the interests of a particular candidate, or interfere with the free course of popular opinion, or to run caucuses or conventions. Where actual misconduct is proven, such as receiving gratuities or bribes, or oppression or insolence in office, or even want of common courtesy, or drunkenness, or other bad habits tending to degrade the officer, or absence or neglect of duty, in all such cases it will be a duty to dismiss the employee. The secretary expects the reduction to be completed by the 30th of June next, and so far as the reduction is specifically made by the recommendation of the report it should be made by the 1st day of June.

THE TURF.

Louisville Races.

LOUISVILLE, May 29.—In the first race for 3-year olds, two mile dash, four started. McWhorter won in the last time of 3:30½, two seconds the best on record; Vera Cruz 2d; Hyena 3d. This is the fastest time that has been made at Louisville in 1, 2, 3 and 4-mile races. The second race, a 2-mile dash, handicap, all ages, 4 starters. Courier won; Glasgow 2d; time 3:31¼, also very fast. The third event, mile heats, for beaten horses, 5 started. St. Elmo won first, and Fairplay took the 2d and 3d heats; time 1:43¼, 1:42½, 1:45¾.

Ten Broeck vs. Time.

LOUISVILLE, May 29.—Ten Broeck's run tomorrow will be against the fastest two miles made previously to to-day. This was at Saratoga in '73, by True Blue in 3:32½, carrying 108 pounds.

THE WAR IN THE EAST.

Cavalry Skirmish.

LONDON, May 28.—A Reuter telegram dated Erzeroum, 27 May, says in a recent cavalry fight ten miles from Kars the Russians lost 150 killed; Turkish losses not reported. No news has been received from the direction of Van or Olti.

The War will be Localized.

LONDON, May 29.—Advices received here of a semi-official character, state that Russia, Germany and Austria have arrived at an understanding that the war will be localized.

The Sultan will Abdicate.

Rumors come from Vienna that Sultan Abdul Hamed will shortly abdicate. There are fears at Constantinople of internal trouble. The ministerial crisis continues.

To Cross the Danube.

BUCHAREST, May 29.—It is expected the Russians will cross the Danube June 10th.

The Turkish Campaign.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 29.—Everything is quiet. The council of war has asked Mukhtar Pasha what his plans were. He replied that there was a scheme in process of execution certain to ensure success, and begged to be left alone.

Another Fight Near Kars.

A cavalry fight took place near Kars Saturday between 2,000 Turks and 1,000 Russians. A heavy rain stopped the fight as soon as commenced.

Turkish Troops at Rutschuk.

LONDON, May 29.—The Times' Rutschuk correspondent writes as follows: The twenty odd thousand troops at this garrison are the perfection of soldiers. They are brown, open-faced, big shouldered fellows, perfectly resigned to any fate Allah may have for them, with perfect faith in the bankrupt government and the chief which they shout and salaam every evening at sunset.

Fear and Trembling.

The disorderly Moslem element is an object of great fear with Bulgarians and foreigners generally. The Christians are frightened to death lest some imprudent members of their faith should speak a word which might light up such a glare as would throw Balak in the shade completely. Even the consuls have to be careful of their lives. Proofs of the extreme dangerous tension of the relations between Moslem and non-Moslem could be given without end. Richard Reed, English and American consul here, thinks matters are as serious as they can be, and his urgent warnings are ignored both at Downing street and Constantinople. It is believed by some here that Russian influence in the form of money is artfully planning a dreadful outbreak, and there are no friends to the Turk who do not insist upon a stop being put to irregularities, the firm repression of which would give satisfaction to decent Mohammedans and non-Mussulmans alike.

Guns Silenced.

BERLIN, May 29.—The steamer Esser, laden with Krupp guns for Cronstadt, foundered off Sweden.

Greek Politics.

ATHENS, May 28.—Greek Chambers opened to-day. Opposition is very strong, and the position of the cabinet is extremely insecure.

Greek Ministers Resigned.

ATHENS, May 29.—The ministry were defeated in the chamber of deputies to-day and announced their resignation.

Reported Recapture of Ardahan.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 28.—The Porte has again received roundabout intelligence from the sub-Governor of Lazlot that Ardahan has been recaptured by a Turkish corps under Mukhtar Pasha.

Turkish War Councils.

The Turkish chamber of deputies unanimously passed a resolution that all ministers should be invited to attend the sitting of the chamber to consult with the deputies upon measures which are urgently required by the military situation.

A Governor Arrested.

Ismail, the former Governor of Tultchanhan, suspected of complicity in the Sofia demonstration, has been arrested and exiled to Broussa. Several others have been arrested and banished, and seizures of arms have been made.

Demonstration in Athens.

ATHENS, May 28.—A large crowd assembled under the windows of the royal palace to-day. Speeches were made urging military preparations and the formation of a strong ministry. The King was absent at the time of the demonstration.

Roumania's Attitude.

BUCHAREST, May 29.—It is now certain the Roumanian army will not cross the Danube with the invading forces, but will remain on the Roumanian side to guard the right flank.

From Ardahan.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 29.—Official reports from Tiflis state that the greater part of the Turkish garrison at Ardahan has been dispersed. Some fled towards Batoum. The Russian column is stationery near Surpahoues collecting provisions.

Danubian Navigation.

VIENNA, May 29.—A semi-official Montags Revue says the principle of the free navigation of the Danube is intimately connected with the vital interest of Austro-Hungary, and should be fully respected by the belligerents. Russia concurs in this view, and has given distinct and reassuring explanations on the subject. Turkey, however, has not, and orders by Turkish authorities are of a nature to call forth the most decided protest on part of Austro-Hungary. This country is entitled to insist that no difficulties should be raised beyond the immediate requirements of military operations, and that such claim of the Porte that vessels belonging to the European commission of the Danube should hoist the Turkish flag, is impracticable. The international character of the Danube excludes the idea of placing it under the sovereignty of the Porte. Instructions, in accordance with the above views, have been sent to Austro-Hungarian representatives at Constantinople and Bucharest.

Turbulents Discharged.

A few days since a number of Caucasians in the Russian service were sent home from Roumania. It was represented at the time that they were discharged on account of lawless conduct toward Roumanians.

Officers Shot

VIENNA, May 29.—The Deutsche Zeitung asserts that a conspiracy was discovered in the army there, and a colonel has been expelled and five other officers shot.

Levant Herald Revived.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 29.—The order suspending the Levant Herald is revoked.

Freedom of the Danube.

LONDON, May 29.—The Times' Vienna dispatch says that the representations made by this government in Constantinople about the reopening of navigation of the Danube, at least as far as Girla have produced their effect. The Turkish commander, Ada Kolese, has informed the Danube Steam Navigation Agency that their ships will be allowed to pass daily.

Pressing Italy.

ROME, May 29.—A correspondent says although the assertion that Russia had arrived at any understanding or exercised any pressure on the Italian government, is untrue, Germany has exercised a certain degree of pressure. Germany decides that there is a possibility that the sympathies of the Italian court may incline towards France.

More Religion in the War.

The Vatican is seriously bent upon decisive conduct against Russia in order if possible to force her to make an explicit decision as to her religious policy in Poland.

The Athenian Demonstration.

LONDON, May 29.—The Times' correspondent in Athens sends the following account of the demonstration there yesterday. The crowd, estimated at from one to ten thousand, filled the square before the palace demanding from the King strong and warlike measures. After waiting two hours four delegates were admitted to the palace. The King replied that now as always he had the national welfare at heart, and would form a ministry acceptable to the people. At last accounts the crowd was still standing discontentedly before the palace.

The Czar will Command in Person.

BUCHAREST, May 29. The Czar, on his arrival, will formally take command of both the Russian and Roumanian armies. All cause for jealousy will thus be averted. This, however, does not deter the arrangement by which the Roumanian army remains on the northern bank of the Danube.

Russians Evacuate Abazes.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 29.—Intelligence from Sookgoom Kale states that the Russians have evacuated the whole coast line of the Abazes country.

General War Notes

The Times' to-day's dispatch from Rutschuk says large masses of Russians are visible to the northwest of Giurgevo.

The Standard's correspondent at Constantinople expresses the belief that the news of the recapture of Ardahan is groundless.

BUCHAREST, May 29.—Railroad communication on the Ibrail and Galatz line has not yet been restored. At Galatz the water is still rising.

Railroad communication between Bosco and Barboschia is interrupted. Two large trains of infantry are detained at Barboschi.

The bridge over the Sereth is considered to be in a dangerous condition.

The sixth army corps, consisting of 35,000 men, which was to have arrived here two days ago, has been detained owing to bad weather.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Protection of Timber Lands.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—When the evidence furnished by the agents justifies legal proceedings against depredators on timber upon government land the agents are forbidden to make any compromise with offenders. Under this arrangement, notwithstanding very limited means were at the disposal of the department for the purpose, seizures of timber, have been made in Minnesota and Louisiana within two months, the value of which aggregate more than the full amount received by the government during the preceding 20 years. The commissioner believes that with proper appropriation the wholesale plundering can be stopped and many millions of dollars saved to the government. The commissioner includes the Pacific coast among the districts where he says the cutting and removal of government timber fraudulently has been very great. He says in the mining districts vast quantities have been used in propping up mines and burned into charcoal for smelting ore, and in other localities it has gone into the usual channel of the timber trade to a very large extent.

Financial Matters.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The Secretary of the Treasury has directed that at the close of the present month an amount of greenbacks be added to the special fund under the joint resolution for the issue of silver coin, which with the six million already set aside, will bring the fund up to the amount called for at this time, about seven million six hundred thousand, that being the amount of legal tenders received in exchange for silver held for redemption of fractional currency.

The Supreme Judgeship.

CHICAGO, May 29.—The Journal's Washington special says the story is current that President Hayes will offer the vacant seat on the bench of the U. S. Supreme Court to Attorney General Devens, who is not content with his present position which has interfered with his lucrative practice as a lawyer.

Sold Out.

Ex-Gov. Chamberlain has sold his residence in Columbia, S. C., to a brother of Wade Hampton.

A Thin Defense.

The defense set up in behalf of the Ellerton rioters at Charleston is that a general uprising of blacks was planned, and that they were instructed by Republican leaders so to act as to compel members of the Democratic rifle clubs to fire the first shot and goad the whites to the very acts perpetrated.

Paying Off the Bonds.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The Secretary of the Treasury gives notice that the principal and interest on $4,100,000 registered 6-20 bonds of March 3, 1865, dated July 1, 1865, and $6,000,000 coupons, will be paid at the U. S. Treasury August 28th.

Cabinet Council.

The cabinet to-morrow will consider the Rio Grande question. Gen. Ord will be present and receive instructions.

Hayes on Morton's Letter.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Tribune's Washington special says: The President is pleased with Morton's letter. It was a fact to have undertaken the support of Packard with the army would have been futile and its result disastrous. At the same time the President did not agree with Morton as to the position and purposes of the Southern people. He did not share Morton's distrust of Southern leaders, but the President declared that whatever may happen in the South now the Republican party can not be held responsible for it. The South is in the hands of Democrats, and that party alone must be held responsible for the conduct of public affairs. The President says he had always been a Republican, and is now, and that the Republican party was never more necessary to the nation than it is to-day. That party, the President said, is good enough for him, and he intended to stand by it. The language of the President showed very clearly that he did not favor a new party organization as such, and he would not be likely to give any such movement his aid.

Ben Butler.

The Tribune's Washington special denies that Butler goes to Colorado to live. He purchased 73,000 acres of land here for English capitalists.

Odds and no Takers.

Speaking of the loss of the steamer the Tribune says the party offered to bet $50,000 against $10,000, that the steamship had not been wrecked. No one was willing to accept the offer.

Ohio Politics.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Tribune's Washington special says: Representative Foster called on the President to-day and had a long interview. The main object of his call, it is understood, was to discuss Ohio politics.

Financial Policy of the Administration.

Foster says the President is certainly in favor of the remonitization of silver. Upon being asked if the Secretary of the Treasury did not disagree with the President on this point and upon the methods of resumption, Foster replied not necessarily, for the reason he did not understand that Sherman has reached any definite conclusion on the subject of the remonitization of silver. Foster thinks Sherman is a little in doubt as to what policy ought to be pursued in this regard. As to that, he might be inclined to favor making the silver dollar a legal tender for a limited amount, say $50. It is the opinion of several persons, who have talked with the President on the subject, within the past few days, that he will recommend to Congress that the silver dollar be made a legal tender on equal terms with gold, or for some limited amount.

Sentence of the Chico Assassins.

OROVILLE, May 28.—The District Court met to-day for the purpose of passing sentence upon the Chico murderers. A number of witnesses were examined to show that F. E. Conway was a weak minded man, easily influenced and liable to get into difficulty. It was shown that his mother died in an insane asylum, having been insane at times for a period during prior to his birth. One witness testified that a man living in Chico and holding a high official position, wanted witness to go into the meetings, held in the woods, join the movement and then propose his name for membership. The district attorney endeavored to find out the name of the person, but the court refused to compel the witness to disclose it, remarking that any man proposing to join such an order was unfit for such official position. Evidence was also introduced showing that public opinion in Chico ran very high against Chinamen, and those employing them, and that the most prominent men in Chico addressed meetings in the town hall, using violent and incendiary language; that the Laborers' Union grew out of these meetings and fire and murder followed. One witness testified that he attended one and went home with the firm expectation that both the Chinamen and shanties would be burnt that night. At the conclusion of the evidence the court said that he had not heard anything that seemed to go in the way of mitigation of Conway's sentence that did not apply equally well to all the rest. They are all young men and no doubt easily led astray. Charles and John Slaughter, E. R. Roberts and E. Conway were sentenced to 25 years' imprisonment; T. W. Stainbrook, who stood trial, got 27½ years. The other indictments against them were dismissed and the prisoner will be taken below on Wednesday.

Pinney's Peculations.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—In connection with the charge preferred against Pinney of embezzling $58,000 from the Ida Elmore Mining Co. while he was treasurer of the company, it is reported that the facts are Pinney, and some other insiders, owe the company a large amount for assessments, and that Pinney entered up assessments on the books as paid without depositing the cash to balance.

Pinney's preliminary examination on the charge of forgery, preferred by Dennis Jordan, was concluded to-day, and the court held him to answer in the sum of $80,000. It is considered probable that Pinney will waive examination on the other charges of forgery.

Complaint was filed in the fourth district court to-day by William B. Carr, against Geo. M. Pinney to recover the sum of $75,615 16, which, at the special instance of Pinney, he (Carr) paid between November 8, 1873, and May 28, 1877. In the same court Carr brings suit against Geo. M. Pinney, E. W. Burr, W. H. Calvert, Savings and Loan Society and Masonic Savings and Loan Society, to recover $200,000 damages, and that defendants be adjudged to have no right, title or interest in certain lands in Kern county.

Rain and Crops.

SACRAMENTO, May 29.—The rain has ceased, fresh southwest wind blowing. No great damage done unless hot days follow. All hay out in the fields can be saved and cured by gentle weather for a few days. In many respects the rain is beneficial. Crop prospects throughout the country are very fine, and better than anticipated. We shall have a surplus of the fruit crop, a fine hop yield, and fully two-thirds of a crop of wheat and barley. Tule lands will make the best yield ever known. Crops on reclaimed lands will be putting in now for two months more.

The Wife Murderer.

VALLEJO, May 29.—Mallon, who was charged by the coroner's jury with the murder of his wife on Thursday night, in Benicia, when brought before Justice Biddell, of that place, for examination, this morning, waived all preliminaries and was given into the custody of the sheriff to await the action of the grand jury. It is stated that a mob surrounded the Benicia lockup on Sunday night for the purpose of lynching Mallon, but Constable Glover has removed the prisoner to a more secure place. Since the investigation by the coroner's jury much more positive evidence of Mallon's guilt has been found.

Homicide.

WOODLAND, May 29.—Mike Nolan was brought to jail last night for fatally shooting Dick Parrott, at Dunnigan's, last evening. All that can be learned of the murder is that Nolan has worked for Parrott, and they are supposed to have had difficulty in settling. Coroner Kerlinberg has gone to hold an inquest.

Rainfall.

Rain fell in Woodland amounted to 69-1000 of an inch. Weather now clear, cool and pleasant.

Attempted Murder.

SANTA CRUZ, May 29.—About half-past 2 this morning, about six miles above Soquel, in this county, a man, name unknown, was found in his cabin covered with blood and in an insensible condition, by his room-mate, who says he was awakened by some noise and saw a man noiselessly moving about, and when he sprang up the man ran out of the door. On getting up he called his room-mate, supposing it was him he saw, and going to his partner's bunk, found him covered with blood, with his skull crushed. The wounded man was removed to the county hospital to-day. He is not likely to recover. A man named Hayes was arrested and lodged in jail on suspicion of having committed the deed.

Weather clear and cool.

INDIAN WAR.

Fight with Indians.

CHICAGO, May 29.—The Inter-Ocean's special from Bismarck, D. T., says Lieut. Alfred E. Fuller has just arrived by a steamer from Tongue river, and gives details of a fight with Indians May 7th. Gen. Miles with Cos. F, H, L and G, of the second cavalry and 25 men of the 14th infantry mounted, attacked an Indian village at the mouth of Tongue river, surprising and routing them. They pursued the redskins five miles over a rough country on foot. Fourteen dead Indians were counted on the field, and many others are known to have been killed and wounded. Four hundred and fifty ponies and horses, and 54 lodges with en ire contents were taken. The cavalry found many new agency goods, saddles, guns, officers clothing, &c., taken from the 7th cavalry in Custer's fight. The band were Minneconjous, led by Lame Deer. The command lost. Killed—Privates Charles Springer, Co. C, Peter Lewis, Co. H, John Martindale, Co. F, Chas Gokosky, Co. F. The wounded are Alfred M. Fuller, shot through the right shoulder. Privates Freyer, left arm; R. Osborne, right arm; Wm. Jeffries, Patrick Ryan, left arm; Thos. Gillman, neck; Wm. Wilkes, right thumb; Geo. Leonard, chin. Gen. Miles had a narrow escape from being shot by two Indians, who under cover of friendly greeting came near shooting him just before the engagement.

An Apache Raid.

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—A roundabout report has reached here that Apache Indians have taken the Texas town of Double Mountain with all the stock. A letter also states that many hunters have been killed by Indians during the winter, and that in a recent fight between sixty hunters and over one hundred Apaches, the hunters for many days pursued the Indians for murdering one of their number, though nearly starved. When at length they came on the Indian village, they attacked it and had a fight of several hours, from which the Indians retreated, under cover of darkness, with great loss.

Grant's Reception in Liverpool.

LIVERPOOL, May 28.—Ex-President Grant arrived here to-day. Adam Badeau, U. S. Consul General at London, and Vice Consul Fairchild, with several prominent Americans, went in a tender to meet the ship. The Mayor of Liverpool, with a number of prominent citizens, received Grant at the landing stage on return of the tender.

Hearty cheers followed the tender as Gen. Grant and his family left the steamer. Many members of the common council and a large crowd of citizens received the tender with cheers. The mayor warmly welcomed the ex-President and extended to him the hospitalities of the town. Grant returned thanks, accepted the invitation of the party, then drove off in the Mayor's State carriage. To-morrow morning Grant will visit the docks at invitation of the dock board, and at 2 o'clock will lunch with the Mayor at the town hall. He proposed going to London later in the afternoon.

NEW YORK, May 29.—A London special dispatch, describing Grant's arrival in Europe, says the steam tug with a deputation from Cork went out to meet the Indiana. Instantly Grant was recognized and greeted with three enthusiastic cheers. The delegation offered him the hospitality of Queenstown, remarking that every village and hamlet in Ireland had resounded with the praises of his name, and would welcome him with all the warmth and candor of the Irish people. A little extempore reception was held in the cabin of the Indiana, when the President replied to the citizens of Queenstown, regretting that he could not then avail himself of their hospitality, but promised to return to Ireland in a short time.

The Indiana reached Liverpool 2:30 P. M. gaily dressed with flags in honor of the arrival of the distinguished American. All shipping in Liverpool docks also exhibited a profuse display of bunting. Flags of all nations were waving along seven miles of the water front, presenting a magnificent coup de'cal. General Badeau, U. S. Consul General at London, and a number of prominent Londoners and Liverpool merchants went out in three tenders and met the steamer a short distance down the Mersey. As the Indiana neared the docks Grant stood on the bridge with the captain, acknowledging the cheers from the immense crowds which lined the water front, and every pier and vessel along the river. Grant and friends, the mayor of Liverpool, members of the common council, deputation of merchants, surrounded by an immense throng of people of both sexes anxious to see the great General, awaited the arrival of the tenders at the landing stages. As Gen. Badeau's boat ran along side of the custom house wharf, tremendous deafening cheers went up. The weather was truly delightful. The General landed with M. Badeau, leaning on his arm was Mrs. Grant, and following Gen. Badeau and her son. As the party stopped on the wharf a cordon of police formed around them, and the mayor and council, as the thousands of people had begun to crush and crowd in their eagerness to get sight of the visitors. Thousands of hats were raised as the mayor slowly advanced to meet the ex-President, reading as he moved forward, according to the old English custom when greeting noted guests an address of formal welcome, repeating the deep interest of the citizens of Liverpool in having him among them as an illustrious statesman and soldier, and asking him to accept the hospitalities which were extended in the name of a great commercial city. Here President Grant waited a few seconds until the cheering ceased, then quietly replied to the address saying, he experienced extreme pleasure in accepting the kind invitation extended, laying particular stress on this, that he felt they had expressed the cordial feeling of England toward him as a citizen of the United States. Grant wore a civilian's attire, somewhat to the disappointment of the crowd, who expected to see him decked in all the glory of the uniform of the army. After being introduced to members of the council and others, the mayor, ex-President and Mrs. Grant entered the mayor's state coach, driven and attended by corporation flunkeys in frills, knee-breeches, powdered wigs and three-cornered hats, and started for the Adelphi hotel. A long line of private carriages followed, and many of the spectators in the vicinity of St. George's hall. New crowds gathered and cheered lustily as the mayor's coach turned up to the main entrance of the Adelphi. Here more police were in waiting to keep off the crowd, and the guests were allowed to pass to their rooms to change their apparel and prepare for a drive around the city. Grant was in unusually good spirits throughout the journey and remarked that for the first time in fifteen years he had passed ten days without the telegraph wire at his back, giving him a sensation as agreeable as it had been unusual. Mrs. Grant looked remarkably well and also appeared to enjoy the incidents of travel greatly.

Polish Leader Shot.

LONDON, May 29.—A Berlin dispatch reports that Kryinski, one of the leaders of the Polish rebellion of 1863, has been shot at Warsaw. While Kryinski was residing in Paris he petitioned the Czar for pardon and was invited to return. Upon his arrival he was arraigned for rebellion and condemned to exile in Siberia. After condemnation he fled, was captured and once more arraigned and shot.

German Catholics.

The Times' correspondent at Rome represents that the German bishops who are assembled at Rome to decide as to the future policy of the church in Germany have received reports which show that the Berlin government is preparing for a struggle if the bishops show the slightest tendency to pursue a more hostile policy. The decisions they had aimed at have consequently been reserved for further consideration.

Arrived at Last.

LIVERPOOL, May 29, 11 A. M.—The steamer City of Brussels is now coming in.

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 30, 1877.

THE PETROLEUM TRADE.

The great rise in coal oil during a year past and the annoying fluctuations in the market price of the article, make an examination of the subject interesting to all readers; for there is no article of more general consumption, and few so nearly indispensable to all classes. Daily production of Pennsylvania oil fields for 1876 was about 25,000 barrels, and at the close of the year was larger than at the beginning. During January of last year the average price of oil at the wells was $1 90 a barrel. In August it sold as high as $4 05. From that time to the end of the year the market exhibited the wildest fluctuations. The secret is that the market is controlled by a monopoly known as the Standard Oil Company, and an authority on the subject says that these masters of the situation manipulate prices as changing views of their interests seem to require. Shipments for the year 1876 out of Pennsylvania amounted to 10,000,000 barrels. In December crude oil was selling at the wells at $3 60, and refined oil at $12 60 per barrel at the seaboard. This last price gives the refiners a clear profit of $500 on every carload of oil. About six years ago this company began its efforts to get control of the petroleum trade of the country. It purchased the principal refineries at many places and "bulldozed" the rest into a combination. The result is that the Standard Oil Company "owns or controls the entire refining capacity of this continent, and is able to dictate prices to the consumers of the world." It has also secured special advantages in the matter of railway transportation, and the people of the oil region, as well as consumers everywhere, are at its mercy. The authority already quoted, writing in January last, said:

The world to-day is contributing to their already enormous profits millions upon millions of dollars, and there is apparently no escape from its continuance. Refined oil, which two or three months ago cost the consumer 15 to 20 cents per gallon, now costs him—and upon the Standard Oil Company's order to "stand and deliver"—35 to 40 cents per gallon! Our foreign markets show even wider fluctuations. Their power and their control of both the crude and refined markets of the world is unquestioned to-day.

It is alleged that the railways in combination with the Standard Oil Company share the profits of this immense scheme; the question is, how can the combination be broken? An oil pipe line to the seaboard has been projected, designed to deliver six to ten thousand barrels every twenty-four hours. It is certain that the plan is a practicable one. But can it succeed against the combination that now so wholly controls production, refining and transportation? Statistics up to the end of 1876 show that there was no diminution, but rather a decided increase of production; and it is asserted with confidence that there is territory undeveloped ample for a supply of 30,000 barrels a day for twenty years to come. It may be added that the daily production for March of this year was 27,527 barrels, against 23,167 barrels for the corresponding month of 1876. We have no statistics later than those for March, but all the facts show the assertion that production is decreasing to be mere pretense, designed to support the claim set up by the monopoly that the enormous advance in prices is due to natural causes.

WAR NOTES.

Already when war was declared great bodies of Russian troops were massed on the Roumanian frontier. Principal headquarters were at Kischineff, and several corps occupying positions on Russia's southern frontier, but massed chiefly along the Pruth, with Kischineff as a center, numbering 265,000 men. The railway distance from Kischineff to the Danube is about 460 miles. At Rutschuk, one of the principal crossing places, the river is three-fourths of a mile wide and has a current of two and a half miles an hour. If the Turks be forced to abandon the line of the Danube, they will fall back to the passes of the Balkan range, some sixty miles south. Here is a good line of natural defense, which perhaps cannot be forced, but can be turned by superiority of numbers. The London News says that from these passes to Constantinople there are no physical obstacles. Within a few miles of the city there is, indeed, a range of hills which English officers think could be made almost impregnable; but although plans were prepared by them with this view, nothing has been done to execute them.

From the theater of the war in Asiatic Turkey to Constantinople the distance is nearly 500 miles. After the fortified places of which Erzeroum is most important, are disposed of, Turkey on that side is defended only by the distances to be traversed by an invading army. Southern ports of Turkey on the Black Sea are likely to fall in the same way Charleston did when Sherman's army moved north through the Carolinas.

Most improbable dispatches are coming through correspondents of the Chicago Times. The inaccuracy, not to say the utter impossibility of events which they have several times professed to relate, has been pointed out by several newspapers. Little credit should therefore be given to its dispatches which assert that England will certainly take a hand in the war at once. It is impossible to believe on such authority that there is a general demand in England for war.

RATHER PROVOKING.

Speaking of the publication recently of several political letters, that of Blaine on the Adamses among them, the Philadelphia Times says there is still another letter that ought to be given to the public, and it goes on to tell of it thus:

We refer to the letter written about the 18th of March by President Hayes to Congressman Garfield, asking him to let Stanley Matthews go to the Senate and declaring that Garfield would be eminently useful in the House and intimating that he might be the Speaker. It has been seen, for Garfield has been compelled to exhibit it to prove to his friends that he wasn't exactly a national idiot, and it is known that it begins with "My Dear General," and ends with "Faithfully your friend, R. B. Hayes." Now that it is discovered that Garfield gave up the substance of a Senatorship for the shadow, and hardly even the shadow, of the Speakership, the contents of the letter are oozing out as he is squeezed by malicious enemies or goaded by capricious friends, and the whole thing had best be given to the public without any more squirming or delay.

In an article published yesterday it was stated that in the height of an old political controversy in Oregon "the story was started that Mr. Corbett while in the Senate made a hundred thousand dollars by speculation in iron in consequence of information obtained through a Senate committee of an intended reduction in tariff." By inadvertence the word "reduction" was used for increase, in this sentence. The context, however, shows the error. We may add here that this one unfounded statement, starting with one hundred thousand dollars and in a few years growing to a million, is a specimen of many things of this kind. During the heat of the controversy that prevailed among men here many charges against various persons were presented, including no doubt others against Mr. Corbett which were quite as unfounded as this one. When men are engaged in an intense personal warfare such things are culpable enough; but it is the part of scurrile and cowardly scavengers to persist in working them over for years afterwards and adding new particulars supplied solely by their own imaginations.

A thorough examination has been made of the condition of affairs in the New York custom house, and as a result there is to be a large reduction of the force and general reform of methods. The report strongly sets forth the evils of the old system of making appointments, and shows how the service suffers by the demoralization which it induces. One-fifth of the force is to be dismissed; and no doubt a similar proportion of employes could be spared from more than half of the custom houses of the country. In the old system of politics the "patronage" of the New York custom house was regarded as Senator Conkling's property, and he has so used it. He is known not to be friendly to the administration, and this invasion of his "rights" may in part account for it.

Now that Tony virtually admits that O'Meara is his correspondent "Carl," nothing more need be said about it.

FRED DOUGLASS.

In that speech which so enraged the people of Washington, Fred Douglass drew this picture of the typical Washingtonian. The fact that they got mad about it shows that it cut very close to the line of truth:

The Washingtonian has now a leisurely air, in no hurry, and looking as if he had lots of time on his hands. His first object is to impress you with the idea that he was, or is, or hopes to be, a great man; that he is a gentleman. In walking, his gait is slow; his muscles does not seem to be of much use to him. He can do as much sitting as a Turk, and can spend more time in an easy chair than any other man on the continent. He always carries a cane—walks, rides, sits, talks and gesticulates with a cane, which is, however, more for ornament than for use. All Washingtonians wear their hats over their eyes in a somber, unhappy and sinister way; a fashion probably learned from members of Congress, who wear their hats in this way sometimes to avoid recognition, and sometimes because of intent thinking. The Washingtonian has a strong negro pronunciation, learned from the slaves. Besides these, there are office-seekers of all kinds, and more people trying to get something for nothing than in any other city in the country. To be honest in Washington is to be considered a fool. Nobody says 'No;' everybody says, acts, and smiles 'Yes.'"

POLITICAL ITEMS.

Democratic seekers of State and county offices in Ohio are as numerous as Republican holders of Federal offices. In one county there are forty-one Democrats who would like something, and annoufice that fact in the newspapers.

The Cincinnati Commercial says that "those who assume that President Hayes expects Southern Representatives to go over to the support of Garfield for Speaker of the next House, in gratitude for his Southern policy, have a very feeble appreciation of the President's genius of common sense."

The Atlanta Constitution, one of the stiffest Democratic papers in the South, says in reference to the Mississippi outrages: "The local press saw nothing in the recent dastardly butchery to condemn; the local authorities did not think it best to arrest the blood-stained participants, and if Kember county had been left to itself no one would have been brought to justice for an assault that has horrified the entire country." Some Northern papers have thought it worth while to tell a different story.

OFFICE OF INSURANCE COMMISSIONER,
San Francisco, Feb. 5, 1877.
I, J. W. Foard, hereby certify that I am Insurance Commissioner of the State of California, and have supervision of insurance business in the State, and as such Commissioner, further certify that the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California is a corporation properly organized under the laws of this State, and being in a solvent condition and possessed of a paid up capital of One Hundred Thousand Dollars, equal to Gold Coin of the United States, is authorized to do business in the State. And I further certify that, upon a personal examination of the books and papers of the said company at the close of the year eighteen hundred and seventy-six, its statement as of this date, and now on file in this office, was shown to be correct and true, the company being possessed of good, valid assets amounting to one million two hundred and sixty-four thousand eight hundred and thirty-six dollars and eighty-six cents* ($1,264,836 86), and having outstanding liabilities, as defined by the laws of the State, amounting to nine hundred and sixteen thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars and five cents ($916,750 05), exclusive of the Capital Stock.
L.S. As witness my hand and official seal, the day and year first above written.
J. W. FOARD,
Insurance Commissioner.

Extract from Report of A. D. Smith, ex-Deputy Insurance Commissioner.]

J. G. EDWARDS, Publisher Coast Review,
Dear Sir:—In pursuance of your request I have made an examinat on of the Assets and Liabilities of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California, as they existed on the 31st day of December, 1876, as shown by the books and papers of the Company, and as a result of such examination I beg to report as follows:
* * * * * * * *
Total Assets, Gold.....$1,281,847 59
Re-Insurance Reserve, American Experience, 4½ per ct. $886,031 49
Claims for Death Losses.....28,700 00
Due on Account Salaries and Rents.....2,019 02
Total Liabilities, Gold.....916,750 51
Net surplus to Policy-holders, Gold.....$365,097 08
Company's paid-up Capital.....$100,000 00

The above is, I believe, a true and fair statement of the Company's condition Dec. 31, 1876.
In conclusion, I beg to say that I found the Company's business thoroughly systematized—its books and papers in excellent condition and neatly kept. Every facility was extended to me by all the officers and employees of the Company to enable me to make my examination thorough. Books, papers, and accounts were freely exhibited to me. There was no attempt to hold back or conceal anything. I am satisfied the Company courts the most rigid scrutiny. For courteous treatment, I beg to return thanks to the officers and attaches of the Company.
Respectfully submitted. A. D. SMITH.
San Francisco, February 5, 1877.

*Commissioner Foard excludes items of assets not admitted under the laws of California, amounting to $17,610 73.

AMUSEMENTS.

MATINEE—LAST NIGHT.—Masonic Hall was comfortably filled last evening on the occasion of the second appearance of the famous Alleghanians. The same programme was repeated as was presented the opening night. It was very enjoyable and keenly appreciated, the audience in several instances insisting upon encores. The Wymans were quite immense and fairly captured the audience by their very cleverly personated specialties. They are a great acquisition to the combination, and have advanced to the position of public favorites. This afternoon a matinee performance will be given to accommodate ladies and children. To-night will positively be the last appearance of the Bell Ringers. Do not fail to hear them.

SHOCKING MURDER AT PORT TOWNSEND.

On Friday last, Capt. Chas. Howard, of Port Townsend, was shot and killed by Henry L. Sutton, a saloon keeper there. There had been a quarrel between them a few days before about a dog. Friday afternoon Howard was standing in front of the saloon engaged in conversation with some one, when Sutton, who had evidently been drinking, came to the door and called out to him in a gruff, irate tone: "Say, come here Howard, I want you!" Howard made some reply about the saloon being a bawdy house, and that he didn't go into such places. Sutton turned back into the saloon in a fit of rage, and immediately came out with a revolver and commenced firing. Howard was hit twice; a shot in the abdomen was fatal. After Sutton had emptied his revolver, he turned to the ex sheriff of the county, who was standing near, and said: "Damn you; if I had another charge I would send it through you on general principles." Sutton then marched back into the saloon, and, seizing a Henry rifle standing behind the bar, threatened that he would shoot anyone who dared to interfere with him. He then went behind the bar coolly with his rifle still in his hand, took what money there was in the drawer, placed it in his pocket, reloaded his revolver, gathered up some effects he had in the saloon, took a double-barreled shotgun, which was also behind the bar, walked out on the wharf, got into his boat, pulled her in under the wharf, where he placed her in order to leave; set sail and sailed out of the harbor. He shortly after fell in with the steamer Favorite, and informed the Captain that a safe robbery had been committed in Townsend; that he was in pursuit of the burglars and must go to Victoria. The Captain informed him that he could not take him to Victoria, upon which he told him if he could land him at Dungeness that would do. He was taken to Dungeness, and as the steamer was passing out of sight, on her way back, he was seen sailing out into the Straits in his boat. It is supposed that he will take passage on some outward bound vessel, if possible, for some foreign port. The fact, says the Seattle Intelligencer, that such a cold-blooded, fiendish murder as that of Captain Howard could be committed in broad daylight in a town like Port Townsend, before a throng of spectators, and the heartless wretch who committed it be allowed to escape as Sutton did, without even a man daring to raise his hand against him, seems almost incredible, and has hardly a parallel in the annals of crime. Still it is so.

Rev. A. J. Hunsaker writes from Turner's, May 29th: "Meetings continue at this place with unabated interest. Congregations are large and attentive. The writer is preaching every evening and at 2 P. M. each day. Will probably continue over Sunday."

Clothing is sold at prices that defy competition at Kohn's corner of First and Morrison streets.

The Debris of the System

Must either pass through its natural channels of exit, the bowels, the kidneys and the pores, or in default thereof, poison and disorder the fluids of the system. In order to effect the complete expulsion of this dangerous refuse, the organs through which it passes off must be active and unobstructed. Fortunately there is a certain means of rendering them so when they are not. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters stimulate the action of the excretory organs, and by diffusing a genial warmth through the circulation, encourage moderate perspiration. By this triple effect the exodus of the foecal and other waste matters are encouraged, and the system freed from peril it would otherwise incur. The action of the bowels which follows the use of this beneficent alterative is easy and unaccompanied by griping, and its stimulative effect upon the urinary organs very conducive to their local health.

CATARRH.

Twelve Years of Suffering.

Gentlemen—About twelve years ago, while traveling with Father Kemp's Old Folks Concert Troupe as a tenor singer, I took a severe cold and was laid up at Newark, N. J. This cold brought on a severe attack of Catarrh, which I battled with every known remedy for four weeks without avail, and was finally obliged to give up a most desirable position and return home unable to sing a note. For three years afterwards I was unable to sing at all. The first attack of Catarrh had left my nasal organs and throat so sensitive that the slightest cold would bring on a fresh attack, leaving me prostrated. In this way I continued to suffer. The last attack the severest I ever had, was terrible. I suffered the most excruciating pain in my head was so hoarse as to be scarcely able to speak, and coughed incessantly. I thought I was going into quick consumption, and I firmly believe that had these symptoms continued without relief they would have rendered me an easy victim. When in this distressing condition, I commenced the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH, very reluctantly, I confess, as I had tried all the advertised remedies without benefit. The first dose of this wonderful medicine gave me the greatest relief. It is hardly possible for one whose head aches, eyes ache, who can scarcely articulate distinctly on account of the choking accumulations in his throat, to realize how much relief I obtained from the first application of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. Under its influence, both internal and external, I rapidly recovered, and by an occasional use of the remedy since have been entirely free from Catarrh, for the first time in twelve years.

Respectfully yours, GEO. W. HOLBROOK.
Waltham, Mass., Jan. 8, 1876.

P. S.—I purchased the Radical Cure of George H. Rogers, Druggist, Rumford Building.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH,

HAS worked a revolution in the treatment of Catarrh; it has demonstrated beyond all doubt that this disease, even in its severest forms, is curable, and that comfort and happiness may be made to follow years of misery, years of suffering, by a persistent use of it. The method of treatment originated by Dr. Sanford, viz., the local and constitutional, by a remedy prepared by distillation, is the only one ever offered to the public that will bear the test of time.

Sanford's Radical Cure
Is Prepared by Distillation.

EVERY plant and herb that yields its medical essence to it is placed in an improved still and there mingled with a solvent liquid, which, by heat, is made to pass over into the receiver, bearing with it the healing essences or juices of these plants or herbs, free from every contamination, pure and colorless. Thus the active medical constituents of thousands of pounds of herbs may be condensed into a very small compass. In this way SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE is divested of all the nauseating, worthless features of all other remedies, while its curative properties are increased tenfold. It is positively the greatest medical triumph of the age.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1.00. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston.

I am so much improved that I can walk and stand, but before I got your Plaster I was unable to walk or stand. Respectfully yours

AN OLD SAILOR'S YARN.

A BLOCKADE-RUNNER IN LOVE—THE DISASTROUS VOYAGE OF THE "STORMY PETREL."

Spin him that yarn, Bill, about that skipper that got gal-struck," said the old sailor; "not as I consider it anythin' agin him, 'cause, of course he couldn't help it. There comes a time in the history of every man, whether he be a sailor man or a chap as lives ashore, when some woman will get the weather-gauge of him, and he be to make a fool of hisself on her account. I've done it myself, and can't say as I regret it; and you, sir, although you're young, and mayhap have kept clear of 'em so far, will find your time come, and will be as big a spooney as all the rest of us has been.

"I don't jist mind his name," said Bill, "but I knows that the boat were called the Stormy Petrel, a neat little craft, and as fast as they make 'em. I jined her when she were off in the stream, and when they weren't no crew belongin' to her, nobody but the officers. We had a little boat as one man could pull, and the fust night I were aboard, the old man he comes to me, and says he, 'Mr. Wood,' said he, 'would you mind jist pullin' me ashore in the dinguey? I've got a little business I wants to attend to, and I don't like to trust the boat ashore alone.'

"'Ay, ay, sir,' says I, and I hauls the boat up to the gangway and hops into her, and pulls him ashore.

"'Come ashore for me at 12 o'clock,' says he as he went off, and I pulls off agin, not in the best of humors, 'cause I didn't cotton to bein' broke of my rest that way a stoppin' up till midnight. Howsever there wer'nt no help for it, and I were ashore prompt on time; but nary a old man were there, and I cooled my heels in the boat for nigh onto a hour afore he hove in sight. What made it worse were that I had neglected to bring my pipe ashore, and hadn't so much as a single chew of terbacker in my breeches' pocket. The skipper come at last, hows'ever, and with him a gal, and then there were another wait for fifteen minutes or so, while they were a-talkin' sweet to each other, and then the old man had to go off agin to see her safe home, and the result were that it were 2 o'clock afore we got off aboard agin.

"Well, of course he done the square thing when he got off, and invited me into his room, and we had a couple of snifters of brandy together, and he tells me to keep mum about the gal and all that, and he had a good deal to say about what a nice gal she were, which were principally interestin' on account of the brandy. Well, sir, this night were a sample of all the other nights from this on, till we went to sea, and we was detained one day later than we ought to have been, on account of some excuse which the old man made, when I know'd sartin it were only that he wanted to have one more night's courtin' with this gal. Hows'ever, we got off at last, and away we went and had a first-rate time over to the coast, gittin' in on the beach away to the west'ard of Fort Caswell jist at dark one afternoon, and at eight bells we steamed ahead full speed to run in. About midnight we judged ourselves pretty nigh up with the fort, and slowed her down, jist turnin' over the wheels enough for to giv' her steerage way. About two bells, as I was standin' on the bridge with the old man and the pilot, a lookin' out sharp for the cruisers, all of a sudden I seen a gun-boat jist for'ard of the port beam. I pints her out to the captain, and at once he passes the word to the man at the wheel to 'hard a port.'

"'What the devil is that for?' say the pilot, 'steady, steady a starboard!'

"'Port, I tell you, says the old man agin; 'I've got charge of this boat; there ain't no chance for to go in to-night; we must run off shore.'

"'You may run to the devil if you like," says the pilot; 'there never were a better chance in the world, and I wash my hands of the whole business; when you wants me for to take you in, you can giv' me a call,' and he went down off the bridge in a great rage.

"The only answer the old man made was to ring the bell 'to go ahead, full speed,' and away we went off shore at about fourteen miles an hour. Arter runnin' a couple of hours we stopped her, and then the old man sent for the oi ot.

"'Well, pi ot,' says he, 'what do you think of it? It's too late to try agin to-night, ain't it?'

"'I should say it were,' says the pilot; 'and now I'd like to know, if you'll tell me, what the blazes you turned her round for when she were agoin' so fine? that these craft never seen us, nor wouldn't have done. I've passed a heap sight closer to 'em than that, and we may try a thousand times and never get so good a chance agin. Why, she giv me my position, and if you hadn't turned her round we'd a been by this time at anchor in the river.'

"'Didn't you see them three gunboats right ahead of us?' says the old man.

"'No,' says the pilot.

"'I thought not,' says the old man. 'By George! it were lucky I seen 'em; we was right in among 'em, and I expected every minnit they'd open onto us; fact is, pilot, you had her too far off shore: you ought to have run the beach down and passed inside of 'em.'

"Well, the pilot didn't say no more, but afterwards he come to me and says he, 'Did you see any more than the one boat when we turned round?'

"'No, sir,' says I.

"'There weren't no more,' says he; 'twere as clear a case of funk as ever I seen; and you mark my words, we ain't a goin' to git into Wilmington at all—we won't have such a chance as that agin in a hurry.'

"Well, we laid on and off all that day, and never seen a vessel. At 4 o'clock in the arternoon the old man gave the order to run in.

"'You're too soon,' says the pilot; 'you'd better let her lay till 6 or 7 o'clock; you'll get in among 'em afore dark at this rate.'

"'I'm a coin' this,' said the old man, 'and I wants you to know, pilot, that I'm captain of my own craft.'

"'Very well, sir,' says the pilot, 'I washes my hands of the whole business, and I'll agoin' be ow; when you require my services, let me know.'

"So away we went on that bright afternoon, steamin' ahead full speed, and leaving a long streak of black smoke behind us for to mark our track. I suppose it wanted half an hour to dark when the mast-head sung out, 'Steamer on the starboard bow!' and another minnit arter he sings out agin, 'Another steamer on the starboard bow; can see four of 'em now, sir; appear to be comin' this way.'

"'The devil,' says the old man; 'in too soon, by Jove! Hard a starboard,' and around we went, and soon lost sight of 'em in the darkness.

"'It won't do to try her to-night,' says the old man to the mate; 'they'll be too much on the look-out. I reckon we'll run out around the Fryin' Pan, and see if we can get in by Fort Fisher.'

"Well, sir, you know the Fryin' Pan shoals extend out some twenty-two miles, and afore we got around and up with the fleet onto that side, the old man decided it were too late for that night. It ain't no use making a long story of it. We humbugged for a couple of days more, and then, as we had coal enough for to reach back to Bermudy, why of course there was no help for it but to go back for coal, and we done it.

"Well, the old man he spun the owners a good yarn of how he had been chased off, and laid the blame onto the pilot, and so they thought he'd done his best, and went to work coalin' her up agin. The pilot had got his money afore he left port, and he went ashore, and the crew agreed to stay if they got another advance, which the officers demanded likewise; so you see it were a matter of two or three thousand pounds expense to the owners for a ship to put back, and took the cream off the profits of the voyage, but the night we got in I pulled the old man ashore as usual, and he seen his gal, and I made up my mind that this were his only reason for comin' back, and I guess I were right. He were struck, you see, and he couldn't bear the idea of bein' caught and sent North and seperated from her.

"Well, sir, arter coalin', we started agin, and the second day out we got a snorter from about west, northwest, and instead of slowin' of her down, the old man jist steamed head onto it, a drivin' her till finally she took one or two seas aboard, and smashed in the deck, washed away the bulwarks both sides, took the foremast out of her, and well nigh made a wreck of her; and once more her head had to be put toward Bermudy.

"It wern't ignorance, sir; he were a good sailorman as ever trod a deck, but he were bound to git back alongside of that gal, and this were the way he done it. As we come to a anchor the skipper says to me, 'Wood, jist l ave up the little boat, and put me ashore, that's a good fellow,' and as we were a goin' ashore we meets one of the owners comin' off.

"'What the blazes brings you back again?' says the owner.

"'Come aboard,' says the old man, 'and I'll soon show you.'

"So we turned back, and he took the owner on board and showed him the damage. Well, of course there weren't nothing to be said; it were a act of God evident, and there were no way but to fix her up and start her again. It ain't no use tellin' you of our adventures on that third trip. We didn't get in, we was chased frequent, and we got to leakin' bad from drivin' of her agin the sea on every occasion. When it come to it that we be to go back the old man did't dare to go to Bermudy agin, and he stuck her for Nassau. One of the owners came down there jist as we were goin' onto the dock for repairs. He says to the old man, 'I think you won't be astonished when I tell you that we have come to the conclusion to try another man.'

"'I don't wonder at it all,' says the old man; 'fact is, I don't think I'm fit for this business,' and so he left, and as quick as he could git there he goes back to Bermudy and gits spliced to his gal I've been tellin' you of.

"'Well, sir, I left her too, in Nassau, 'cause I thought nothin' but bad luck could come of such a broken v'yage as this, and I were right for they shipped another skipper, and he tryin' to run in, he struck on a wreck on the New Inlet bar, and she were a total loss. That were a severe scald for the owners, and shows that blockade runnin' weren't all profit by no means, and this here all come of that there skipper gittin' gal-struck." SEA.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TUESDAY EVENING, May 29, 1877.

Gold in New York, 106⅜.

Legal Tenders in Portland—buying 93¾; selling, 94¼.

Silver Coin—1½@5 per cent. discount.

The week so far has presented no new features in the local money market, and the condition of ease noted for some time past is reported to continue. The requirements of the season up to this time have not come up to the expectation of capitalists who anticipated a far greater demand, especially from the fishing interests. The rains of May have also somewhat retarded business generally and made the wool trade particularly backward in setting in in full volume. For these and other reasons, the accumulations of funds in bank have not been at all diminished, and rates instead of being firmer are perhaps less stiff than they were two months ago. There is, however, some disposition on the part of lenders to husband their resources to meet the wants of the market when the wheat crop is to be moved. The call for that object will, however, be largely met by outside capital, and comparatively its effects on the local market will tend to reduce the surplus very little. In fact the whole theory of the vast requirements made on the capital of the country is more in theory than otherwise, especially in a country where the business of selling and shipping is connected as in Oregon. Though it may not be so in other parts of the world, here the movement of the crops makes a difference only temporary, as the funds are drawn from the depositories when the wheat buyer or shipper has it circulated among the producers, ship owners, etc., and when the former has a cargo on board, he sells it and returns the proceeds to the same depository. The producers pay the expense of harvesting, and the remainder soon finds its way again into the ordinary channels of circulation, so that moving the crops affects the general condition of the money market, much less than is generally supposed, especially when we consider the fact that a greater portion of the crop is purchased and shipped by firms here for parties who reside elsewhere, and who furnish other than home capital with which to transact the business.

The preparations that have been made so far this season to move Oregon's wheat crop have involved but very little outlay, as we hear of no arrangements for vessels which have any extent, and though a few are en route for this port with cargoes, and these will probably take cargoes of wheat on their outward voyage, we know of no charters for loading with the next crop. The arrangements for that purpose are nearly all yet to be made.

Domestic Produce.

The active movement in breadstuffs induced by remunerative prices which have prevailed for a few weeks past has about died out, and receipts from all directions are now light. The surplus wheat yet in the country will little more than supply the State mills until the new crop comes in, with perhaps an occasional shipment to San Francisco. Quotations for wheat are almost entirely nominal, and though a small lot is offered now and then, it is seldom that views of holders and buyers can be reconciled, and transactions occur only when the proposed buyer can see a place to put his purchase on saving terms. There appear to be very few parties in the market giving the cereal much attention at this time, and though the price is nominally much above the rates prevailing most of the time during the past season, offers to sell find much less acceptance because all buyers know the difficulty of collecting enough to make a shipment that will pay for the handling. Flour is in fair demand both for shipment and the local trade at the same rates which have ruled for a week past. The supply though answering the demand reasonably, is not as large as the trade could handle profitably. The report that it will perhaps be necessary to import flour from California to this State before harvest, is not at all likely to prove true, as by drawing out the surplus wheat in the State, Oregon could spare several thousand bushels and yet have an abundance left for home consumption.

In other commodities there is a moderate amount of activity in the market with no important change in the quotations to note. Oats, mill feed, hay, etc, show some dullness, as also do provisions and dairy products. Wool, hides, etc., are in good demand, and prices, though showing no appreciation, are firm. Wool is coming forward more freely, but it is evident the bulk of the spring clip is yet back. We hear that a good many wool-growers will ship their own product either individually or in clubs.

New York Freights and Markets.

NEW YORK, May 28.—There has been slightly more activity at the wharves of Pacific coast ships to-day, but still there are evidences of dullness which prevails in the market; shipments confined chiefly to heavy goods, and vessels are now sailing without being full, which is owing to a great falling off of shipments of dry goods, leaf tobacco, glass ware and other light but bulky freight. Rates remain very steady; but it is probable that they have about reached the top notch, as ship owners have discovered that the demand for their vessels for transatlantic business has not been as great as anticipated, while in the meantime California advices have improved, and they are not so exorbitant in their views while at the same time all the lines have a supply of tonnage to last them fully 60 days. Hence it is not probable that rates will be further advanced.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship George W. Elder left San Francisco for this port at the usual hour this forenoon with freight and passengers.

There are now in the port of San Francisco vessels disengaged with an aggregate registered tonnage of over 30,000 tons.

The City of Chester will sail for San Francisco Thursday morning at 3 o'clock.

The steamship California will sail for Victoria, Fort Wrangel and Sitka at 3 A. M. on Saturday.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS OF

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

In the Treatment of Chronic Disease.

Positive Proof of his Wonderful Skill.

Testimony that Cannot be Contradicted.

Reliable Witnesses Testifying What he has Done for Them.

Perfect Cures where all other Treatment had Failed.

Crowds Coming from all Parts of the Country to Visit Him.

The Following Certificates Speak for Themselves:

TO DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—

For the past year and a half I have been suffering from Nervous and General Debility, Kidney Disease, Loss of Flesh and Strength, dizziness in the head and a constant pain through the back and loins. I became so debilitated and broken down that I was unfitted for business. I have been to Victoria and all over the coast under medical treatment for the past nine months, without receiving any benefit whatever, and had almost given up hopes of ever recovering, until I came under your treatment, about seven weeks ago. From the very first your treatment seemed to work like a charm, and I constantly improved from the beginning. I have gained 14 pounds of flesh, and I am now, thanks to your skillful treatment, perfectly well, and am able to return to my business on the Snohomish. JAMES KING.

Seattle, March 31, 1877.

To the People: I have been troubled with chronic Nasal Catarrh for years, the disease being so aggravated that there was constantly an effusion of matter passing down into my throat behind the palate and down through my nostrils.

My nose became depressed between the eyes and swollen on each side. I was told by physicians that it was a polypus; that some of the blood vessels were involved and that the removal would endanger my life by hemorrhage. I became so bad that I made up my mind that I must have immediate relief or die.

As a last resort I applied to Dr. Paul M. Brenan, who after a moment's examination, determined what to do. He said the nasal bone was involved and diseased, and that there would have to be a port on of it removed. He at once removed the bone tumor containing the ulcer; also the diseased portion of bone and paracatory gland and cured the catarrh. I am now perfectly well and as free from disease as ever I was in my life.

THOMAS D. MURPHY.

Seattle, April 8th, 1877.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—Dear Sir: I take great pleasure in stating for the benefit of those who are afflicted with any chronic disease, that I am now a well man. For the past two years I have been under the medical treatment of different physicians, from which I have received no benefit. I have been suffering with general and nervous debility, a difficulty in my stomach, and at times dizziness and severe headache, almost incapacitating me for work. About three weeks ago I put myself under your care, and I can say with delight that I am cured and feel like myself again, after having partaken of your skillful treatment. To me now, labor seems a pleasure. I say this much, hoping it will be the means of attracting the suffering to you who can relieve and cure them.

Yours Truly, JOHN BALLARD,
Employed at Colman's Saw Mill, Seattle.

[I will not publish any cures performed by me unless by the full consent of the parties.]
